Final count in superintendent race puts incumbent ahead of challenger

BY TRACI BONNEY
It's still a runoff in the county school superintendent's race, but Tuesday's recount puts incumbent Terrell Randolph ahead of challenger Myrna Bourgeois.

The Democratic Executive Committee held a special meeting Tuesday evening to recount the votes in Ansley Lakeshore and Clermont Harbor precincts. In those three precincts, the original primary vote showed Randolph receiving only two votes in Lakeshore and none in the other two precincts.

An error was suspected in the vote tabulation machine, but a recount last week using a different tabulator yielded the same results.

Randolph consulted with Democratic Executive Committee chairman Charles Gottschalk, Circuit Clerk Pam Metzler and Circuit Court Judge James Thomas Monday after visually inspecting the seven voting machines used in those three precincts. Upon inspection, it was discovered that the masks, the plastic sheets with holes punched in the candidates' numbers, were mispunched. Randolph's number was 93, but in those seven machines, the masks had holes in the number 92.

At the special meeting Tuesday, the committee used a machine reprogrammed to read the votes cast for Randolph in the #92 space. A crowd of people who said they felt robbed of their vote awaited the outcome.

The resulting vote was:
Ansley — Bourgeois 96, two less than her original total of 98; W.J. Cameron 2; Donald Hillman 6; Randolph 15.

Lakeshore — Bourgeois 234, two less than the original vote of 236; Cameron 76, two less than the original 78; Hillman 85; Randolph 178.

Clermont Harbor — Bourgeois 96, one more than the original 95; Cameron 7; Hillman 22, one less than the original 23; and Randolph 40.

Final certified totals in the race were: Bourgeois 1,397; Cameron 924; Hillman 899; and Randolph 1,467.

Randolph said afterward, "I'm satisfied that the people in these particular communities had their votes counted, and I appreciate the concern of everyone involved who took part in resolving the problem. It was a technological error and an honest mistake."

Bourgeois commented, "I'm very pleased it's over."

Randolph and Bourgeois face each other again in the October 8 runoff. The winner of that election will take the office, since there are no Republican opponents.

Dockside casino zoning ruling finds favorable local response

BY TRACI BONNEY
According to a new state attorney general's opinion, governing officials in Bay St. Louis will be able to designate where they do and do not want dockside gambling operations to be located.

An opinion released Tuesday afternoon states that city leaders in areas with legal dockside gaming may enact reasonable zoning laws which restrict locations of casinos.

The opinion further states that those city leaders cannot use their zoning laws to prohibit gaming.

Written by assistant attorney general Wilson Carroll, the opinion was released in answer to questions by Bay St. Louis officials. It has drawn favorable response from officials and people on both sides of the gaming issue.

Mayor Edward Favre said he thinks the opinion will ease some people's minds, but realizes others would like to see zoning regulation mandated by law.

He added that the new opinion, which reverses a previous one that said state law super-

Past meets future

D-Day histories become part of UNO Eisenhower Center archives

BY TRACI BONNEY
Dr. Stephen Ambrose is working to take a piece of the past into the future.

Ambrose, a local resident, historical author and director of the University of New Orleans' Eisenhower Center, is calling on veterans of the June 6, 1944 Normandy invasion to contribute oral histories of their recollections of D-Day to a tape recording he is producing.

He stated, "In 1983, the Eisenhower Center began collecting D-Day recollections. About 700 have been collected to date from Americans and about 100 from British, French and German veterans.

"We are thus proud to say we have the best archives on D-Day in the world."

Ambrose's goal is to collect at least 2,000 recollections. He pointed out that it would be impossible to obtain oral histories from all 176,000 soldiers who invaded the French beaches at Normandy that day in 1944, since many have died.

Those same factors — age, the passage of time, and their effects on the veterans — are what makes Ambrose's task more urgent. Ambrose said the average age of the soldiers involved was 22 on D-Day. "If we wait, we're going to lose some of these men and their histories."

Ambrose said the Eisenhower Center will keep all the recollections in their archives, and will have the best and most representative oral histories read by students in the UNO drama department for a tape that will be available to the public and to radio stations nationwide.

In addition, the center is working to secure a one-hour public radio show featuring the tape June 6, 1992. For the 50th anniversary of the invasion, a book of excerpts from the tape is planned. The book will be titled Voices of D-Day.

Ambrose, who worked with former president Dwight D. Eisenhower for five years and wrote his biography, began the tape project because Ambrose considers D-Day the highlight of Eisenhower's career.

The author's interest in D-Day started when he wrote Pegasus Bridge about 10 years ago, he said. Research for the book, which chronicles the taking of a French bridge by a British unit, included interviews of many of the high-level officers

Stolen vehicle parts

Hancock County Sheriff's Department deputies arrested Eric Jarvis of Pearlington Wednesday for operating a chop shop at his home. Investigator Matt Karl said the sheriff's department received a phone call Tuesday night about a boat and trailer stuck in a ditch near Jarvis' home. Deputy Alan James went to where the boat was and saw the truck that was described as pulling the boat parked in Jarvis' driveway. He returned to the boat, and two men drove off in the truck. James pursued the truck across the Louisiana state line to where the men deserted the vehicle near a wooded area. The next day the sheriff's department sent a deputy to Jarvis' home to investigate. Karl said it was discovered that several whole and disassembled vehicles on his property were reported stolen. The sheriff's department reported confiscating more than $35,000 worth of property. Investigator Nathan Hoda is in charge of the investigation. (Echo staff photo by Jacqui Cochran)

Hancock Countians take part in cleanup

BY ELLIS CUEVAS
Some 255 plus Hancock County residents joined in the Mississippi Coast Cleanup Saturday.

The event was sponsored by the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce in cooperation with the Board of Supervisors and cities of Bay St. Louis and Waveland.

As the cleanup ended along Beach Boulevard, from the mouth of the Jourdan River to Bayou Cadet, Waste Management collected 142 bags of litter.

The 255 volunteers who signed up included the chamber's officers, directors, members and families.

Organizations and groups included Cub Pack 207, Jobs for Mississippi Graduates, St. Clare School, Bay High's Rotary Interact Club, St. Stanislaus Key Club, First Baptist Church Youth, Bay Middle School, NAVOCEANO, Hancock Exchange Club, Riverside Homemakers, Extension Service, Bay Rotary Club and many others.

Ellis Cuevas, chamber beautification chairman said, "Thanks to everyone for their

Grant funds available for housing improvements

BY TRACI BONNEY

Housing renovations are on the minds of city, county, state and federal officials, if the grant money to be had is any indicator.

Both the Bay St. Louis city council and the county board of supervisors are working to procure Community Development Block Grant funds for local low- and moderate-income homeowners. These funds will be used to repair and rehabilitate houses to bring them up to health, safety and utility economy standards and to provide accessibility for handicapped persons where needed.

The City of Bay St. Louis has not yet had any applicants, but the county has received about 245 applications.

Meanwhile, Bay St. Louis and Mississippi Regional Housing Authority No. VIII, which includes Hancock County, have been awarded Comprehensive Improvement Assistance Program grants for the modernization and upgrading of public housing.

Bay St. Louis has been awarded $618,704, while the amount earmarked for the Regional Housing Authority is $1,251,801. Regional Housing Authority No. VIII serves a 15-county area.

Killed Aug. 14, 1979

Rest peacefully now my precious son,
It's hard to believe your life is done.

I'm thankful for all the years I had,
With you, my son, and your loving dad.

It saddens my heart to think of you both.
It's hard to say who I miss the most.

I'm all alone, and the day lingers on.
But it's at night when I feel all alone.

Part of you is still in our home.
At times it's hard to think you're gone.

I'll leave your room forever untouched.
Oh, my son, I miss you so much.

Fall camp offered for adult cancer patients

The Gulf Coast Chapter of the Telephone Pioneers, in cooperation with Singing River Hospital Systems, is sponsoring Fall '91 Camp Bluebird at Seashore Methodist Assembly in Biloxi Oct. 25, 26 and 27.

Camp Bluebird is a camp for adult cancer patients, anyone 18 years or older who has been diagnosed with cancer at some time in life is eligible to be a camper.

The camp is a time of sharing and caring for the campers. It also provides therapeutic value. Counselors who are trained volunteers from Singing River Hospital Systems and Telephone Pioneers are provided to be a friend, to talk with, to share with and to listen. They also take part in the educational opportunities and arts and crafts with the camper.

The Spring '91 Camp Bluebird, held April 26, 27 and 28 was a great success. Twenty-two campers participated in a weekend of fun, including ice cream pig-outs, bingo, a variety show and a dance featuring a jazz band.

For the October camp, a Halloween theme has been chosen and an old-fashioned Halloween Carnival will be held with hayrides and game booths. A costume contest will also be held.

Camper fee is $25, but sponsors are available upon request. Pre-registration is required and we encourage early registration so that each camper's special needs may be prepared for in advance. All food and snacks are provided for the weekend. A camp nurse will be on site at all times.

For information, call Virginia McNease at 938-5297 or Ruth Chinn at 863-0212.

HMC seeks oldest person born in a local hospital

Hancock Medical Center will host a "Celebration of Life" Saturday, Nov. 9.

The celebration will recognize all of those currently living in Hancock County and those who were born in one of Hancock County's medical facilities, including King's Daughters Hospital, Hancock General Hospital and Hancock Medical Center.

Don Henderson, HMC administrator, said, "We are looking for the oldest person born at a Hancock County medical facility."

Those born prior to 1937 in a Hancock County medical facility are asked to call Charles Gray of the Hancock County Historical Society at 467-8201," Henderson added.

The day of celebration is to be a "fun day" with such activities as Golden Girls beauty contest; contests for the best decorated tricycle, baby buggy or wagon; a "match the baby photo to the names of local celebrities" contest; second line parade; music; food booths; games for youngsters and more.

"If you are interested in having your baby photo displayed, or think you should be part of the matching contest, please forward the photo with your name, address, telephone, date and place of birth penciled on the reverse to the Chamber of Commerce (P.O. Box 103, Bay St. Louis, MS 39520). We will attempt to return all entries," said Henderson.

Among the organizations offering support thus far are the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce, RSVP, Hancock County Historical Society, Exchange Club, Rotary Club and the Bay St. Louis Business Association.

For more information, contact the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce through Cindy Vernon, executive director (467-9048) or Basil Kennedy, president (467-5793).

cedes local zoning, is "in line with what the other state agencies have been saying from Day One. They've been saying that if the city or county wants to enact reasonable zoning ordinances concerning gaming, the state will honor those ordinances."

Fred Wagner, chairman of the Friends of Bay St. Louis, an organization mostly consisting of people opposed to downtown beachfront casinos, said, "The attorney general opinion was fair and right. Zoning matters are local matters."

Mardi Gras Casino Corp. land acquisition specialist Don Tyner said his company supports the attorney general opinion.

"We feel that a county or city has a fundamental right to zone for gaming. We just hope that the counties and cities go into their zoning with good intentions, that they zone to regulate and not to prohibit operations."

Diamondhead Arts, Crafts this weekend

The ninth annual Arts and Creative Crafts Show at Diamondhead will be Saturday, Sept. 28 from 9:30 a.m. until 6 p.m. and Sunday, Sept. 29 from 11 a.m. until 5 p.m., on the Country Club Circle and grounds.

More than 150 booths will be set up with handmade crafts and multi-media art works for sale.

The Diamondhead Country Club will provide a barbecue buffet lunch for inside dining on Saturday, and brunch on Sunday. Outside food carts will provide sandwiches and drinks.

Music will be provided on Saturday from 2 to 4 p.m. by Strait Face, and on Sunday from 2 to 4 p.m. by Magnolia Overdrive. Proceeds from the annual event benefit Diamondhead Academy.

Strait Face will perform Saturday.

"Our county beach crew needs to be commended, as the amount of litter collected during the beach cleanup is smaller each year," Cuevas added.

Cokes and the Coke wagon were provided by Coast Coca-Cola Bottling, hot dogs by Winn-Dixie, buns by Little Ray's, with Ray Kidd in charge of refreshments. Kidd, Cindy Vernon, Theresa Heath and Toni Henry served over 250 hot dogs and drinks.

Additional assistance was provided by Waste Management, John Mason's Exxon and Edmond Fahey Funeral Home.

Home economist Darlene Underwood was assisted by homemakers for registration in Bay St. Louis and Waveland with Betsy Ashman in charge at Lakeshore/Clermont Harbor.

Organization and planning for the cleanup was coordinated by the chamber's beautification committee.

Local survivors of incest find a way out of trauma

BY TRACI BONNEY

Since July, several local incest survivors have started their journey to recovery.

Susan Boudreaux, one of those survivors, is a member of Survivors of Incest Anonymous. The group started as Incest Survivors Anonymous but changed its name when the national SIA office responded to a request for literature and information while the ISA office did not.

SIA is an international organization formed to provide information, support and recovery therapy for those adults who in their childhood experienced open or covert sexual abuse from a close relative or an authority figure, be that a parent, sibling, other relative, babysitter, teacher or other professional — in short, anyone who has or is perceived as having power over the child.

This sexual abuse may or may not involve touching, actual intercourse or other physical forms of sexual contact. It may involve threats, verbal seduction or nonverbal communication.

SIA is a 12-step based program not affiliated with any religious organization, sect or cult, but founded on principles similar to the 12-step program pioneered by Alcoholics Anonymous.

The local SIA group has several members who meet on Wednesdays, 1:30 p.m., at Bayou Phillips Community Center. The all-female group has been meeting for several weeks and welcomes new members, Boudreaux said.

reaux said.

"We are a group of members who have chosen to be survivors, not victims," she stated.

The group is open only to adult survivors of incest, not to perpetrators or survivors who are also perpetrators.

For more information, call Susan (Kathy) Boudreaux at 466-3459 or Barbara at 255-1092.

"QUOTABLE QUOTES"

By Ellis C. Cuevas

Mel Villere of Waveland was shopping at one of the local salvage outlets a few weeks ago and purchased an interesting and puzzling tape.

The tape is by a jazz band, and one of the songs is written for and dedicated to the late Tommy Ladner, titled Tommy Blues.

Villere would like to find the family of the late Tommy Ladner and give the tape to them.

I heard the song, and it is of good quality. So if you think it may have been dedicated to a member of your family, give Villere a call at 467-7910.

Mrs. Guy Cole of Diamondhead called me Wednesday morning to report her property was struck again by lightning.

Tuesday night about 9:30 lightning struck a pine tree in her front yard which knocked photos and paintings off the walls in the house.

She said she was watching television, and the picture did not even flicker, yet the boom was so great that her ears were still ringing 15 minutes later.

Just a month ago, Mrs. Cole was knocked out of her bed by a bolt of lightning, which caused extensive damage to her property.

On Wednesday, she was afraid to look at her roof, which was just replaced from the last strike on Saturday morning.

Mrs. Cole is hoping this will be the last time for lightning to strike her property.

Local high school football will see St. Stanislaus at home this week with Bay High and Hancock High in away games.

The Rock-A-Chaws will be trying to keep a perfect record when they host East Central.

Stanislaus players need to remember that they lost to East Central last year 7-2 and not take them too lightly.

Bay High will need to play like they did last week against Forrest County AHS in order to bring a victory home from an encounter with East Marion.

It seems that Rocky Gaudin's young Tigers have begun to mature and could, with some good effort, even their record.

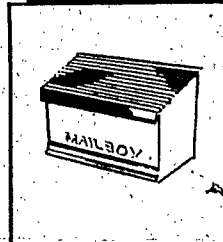

The Hawks of Hancock High got into the win column last week and will need to be in top form to take the St. Martin's Yellow Jackets in an away game.

St. Martin looked good in a losing game to the Rocks last Friday.

Good luck to our local teams. I am hoping the stands will be filled this week with Hawk, Tiger and Rock-A-Chaw fans.

Remember, kickoffs are at 7:30 p.m.

I hope to see you at the game!

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Voting is our greatest voice of freedom

To the Editor,

We have seen on TV and read in our papers of the history-making events in the USSR. The hundreds of thousands of Russian citizens demonstrating, some even risking their lives, erecting barricades against tanks, soldiers, KGB and others to protect their elected president and their "White House" that stood for their new-found "freedom."

You, too, can demonstrate your rights and desires to be represented by your choice in local, state or federal government.

Are you pleased with your children's education, or your medical care and costs, crime, drug programs, etc.? If "no" is the answer to any of these questions—vote.

Let your voice be heard. Or would you want to be here like it was living in the old USSR, where you were put in prison for expressing your opinion?

Vote, don't let it ever happen here.

Lack of interest cancels important rape seminar

To the Editor:

What motivates people after a crime happens to them? Then they are for law and order. The police, courts and judicial system have failed them. People should try to help themselves more.

What would you do if you were face to face with being assaulted or raped? Would you be able to prevent assault or rape to survive, live?

On Sept. 24 a well-advertised free seminar was to have been presented by U.S. Marshal Richard McKay at the Hancock Medical Center on the important issue, "Assault/Rape Prevention Survival Seminar."

It was cancelled because not enough people were interested in attending.

It was to be a 3½ hour seminar. I was very disappointed that it had to be cancelled, and the few who made special arrangements to be there were also.

If enough interest can be generated, Marshal McKay will come back and present the program.

Janet P. Barnett can be reached at the Hancock Medical Center to hear your opinion if you would be interested in this seminar being presented in the future.

This is very important to all women, children and older people alone in their homes. The crime of assault and rape can happen anytime of day or night. None of us is safe from this type of crime. It does and can happen to all of us.

Let's educate ourselves and learn what we can to help prevent it from happening by having this Assault/Rape Prevention Survival Seminar presented soon.

Sincerely,
Louisa M. Brew

Mississippi leads way in education use of computers

An amazing thing is happening in Mississippi's schools.

For the first time in our state's history, kindergartners and first graders are graduating with the literacy skills that they will need to succeed in the 21st century with the help of high technology.

Currently, Mississippi is midway through an ambitious, four-year program to teach our young people to read and write with the help of computers in the early grades.

These new-generation teaching tools are already in over half of our classrooms, and in the next year-and-a-half, every school will have this state-of-the-art equipment.

That's good news not only for those children who have just begun the 1992 school year. It's a commitment of hope for children who will usher in the next century.

We are well on the way to becoming the first state in the nation to have an extensive computer-based literacy program in place for our children when they begin school.

Thanks to a partnership of charitable, business and state government sources, the impact on education is considerable. We have talked about the young people of the state, and how they are improving their reading and writing skills, but we cannot forget those who need a second chance at literacy.

According to a recent study, called the Mississippi Literacy Assessment:

—Almost 100,000 adult Mississippians from the ages of 16 to 75 have little or no reading or writing skills.

—Approximately 650,000 adult Mississippians have difficulty in completing tasks such as interpreting an appliance warranty, locating information in a newspaper article, writing a letter about a billing error or correctly interpreting the theme of a short poem.

While the vast majority of adults in our state are literate in the most basic sense, these two results of the Mississippi Literacy Assessment underline the fact that literacy is an important issue to our state's future.

Two-and-a-half years ago, Julie, my wife, announced a toll-free, statewide hotline to put Mississippians in touch with the nearest literacy or adult education program.

By calling the "Learning Line" at 1-800-325-7323, anyone can find help.

We also encourage those who would like to be a tutor or volunteer at a local program to call the "Learning Line," which can help connect you with a program in your area.

We are making a dent in our state's literacy problem, from those in kindergarten through those already in the workforce.

EYES ON MISSISSIPPI

By Bill Minor

Brad Dye still has challengers in Nov.

Once in awhile David does bring down Goliath in Mississippi politics. Even though he didn't quite defeat powerful Lt. Gov. Brad Dye last week, Ken Harper came so close that Dye's political clout will never be the same.

Harper, who started as a virtual unknown statewide, parlayed a shrewdly run, low-budget campaign, capitalizing on Dye's obviously high negative image, to come within a single percentage point of unhorsing the man many regard as the single most powerful in state government.

Remarkably, Mississippians for the first time showed they have really begun to pay attention to the lieutenant governor's office, and no longer will just hand the post to someone whose name they recognize.

It's evident that Mississippians in great numbers had grown tired of Brad Dye trying to make himself "permanent" lieutenant governor and arrogantly wielding inordinate power over the legislative process.

On Nov. 5 Dye must still survive a Republican challenge by another state senator, Eddie Briggs of DeKalb, as well as Henry Kirksey, Dye's perennial black antagonist, who also served in the Senate in the 80s.

Briggs, whose candidacy no doubt is bolstered by the heavy damage Harper has already inflicted on Dye, will likely have lots more campaign money to work with than did Harper, whose race was largely funded by organized labor.

If Dye stumbles through and is re-elected in November, the verdict on Dye's chances of again becoming the strong man of the state Senate is apparently already in: Little and none. As one senator-elect said last week, "Brad Dye has been defanged."

A move was well underway in the Senate even before Dye's bloodying by Harper to strip the lieutenant governor of his chairmanship of the Senate Rules Committee, one of the major powers the Senate rules have given him in the past.

Senate sources told this column last week that groups of senators will soon begin exploratory get-togethers to come up with broad rules change proposals which would virtually eliminate the lieutenant governor from wielding any control over the legislative process other than presiding over sessions of the Senate.

The only Senate authority of the lieutenant governor prescribed in the state Constitution is for him to be presiding officer of the Senate and to vote only in case of ties.

Six years ago, two state senators had brought a lawsuit under the separation of powers provision of the constitution charging that Dye was in violation by making appointments to all Senate committees and designating chairmen and vice-chairmen, designation the committee to which all bills are assigned, and serving as chairman of the Rules Committee.

The state Supreme Court in a split decision held that while the lieutenant governor was a member of the executive branch of government, he could exercise legislative powers if they are assigned to him by Senate rules.

Defeat of veteran Sen. Glen Deweese of Meridian, the president pro tempore of the Senate, in the Sept. 17 primary yanked one of Dye's mainstays out from under him. Deweese, although regarded as no hard-liner in the Senate even by some anti-Dye members, was repeatedly attacked by his opponent for having ties to Dye.

Joe Clay Hamilton, the 62-year-old Meridian attorney and former district attorney, who ousted Deweese, cited the fact that Deweese as a senator had put on a fund-raiser for Dye in 1987 even though Dye had no opposition.

Hamilton, a one-time reporter for the Atlanta Journal, said he backs changes in the Senate rules to reduce the lieutenant governor's power "and let all the sunshine in that's possible."

Dye's near-defeat by Harper has had a very perceptible humbling effect on the lanky, gray-haired political fixture, who is the last survivor of the once-potent James O. Eastland faction in Mississippi politics.

Last week, Dye pledged that he will henceforth become easily accessible and frank with the press, something he hasn't been for years, and will cooperate with the governor, whoever he may be. When Harper dropped by Dye's office to congratulate him two days after the primary, Dye jumped up out of his chair and warmly greeted Harper, clapping him on the back.

Perhaps the guy who was regarded as the 800-pound gorilla around the State Capitol is just a pussy-cat now.

THE PEOPLE'S BUSINESS

From the Mississippi Economic Council

We don't work for them—They work for us

The Sept. 17 primaries marked the first hurdle on the road to public office for many statewide and local candidates, but too few registered voters made the effort to exercise their constitutional right to vote. Hundreds of thousands statewide chose to abandon the process.

Our educational institutions, like our bridges and highways, are falling apart. Our prisons are full, but crime rates continue to rise. Our economy continues to falter. Too few people in public office seem willing to make tough decisions or provide the leadership we need to remain competitive in the future.

How can we be so apathetic in the face of so many serious problems?

We are often content to rely on a thirty-second sound bite from television or radio for information on the actions of candidates or public officials. Whenever the media does report some outrage committed by a public official, we tend to grumble over our cereal and rattle our newspapers a bit, but little else.

How often have we voiced our displeasure to our officials? Do we write the Governor to protest inaction or lack of leadership on an important issue? Do we know what the local school superintendent plans to do to improve the awful test scores in math at the junior high school little Johnny will be attending in a few short years?

The simple fact is that the present status of our state is our fault. We will never move Mississippi forward until we become willing, as citizens, to influence the decisions of our public officials.

We have the votes they need and the money they want. It's time for us to remember that public service is a trust; and that we don't work for them, they work for us.

Sheriff's department makes arrest on cattle slaughter

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

Hancock County Sheriff's Department Investigator Matt Karl reported Wednesday the arrest of a Bayside Park man for the slaughtering and injuring of cattle along Highway 90 last year.

Karl said, Joey Schmidt, 19, was arrested at 9:20 a.m. last Thursday by the Sheriff's Department and charged with grand larceny for value of two calves belonging to Fritz Garcia of Hancock County.

The incident took place a year ago this month, the investigator stated. One calf was killed and dragged into the woods where it was skinned. Another calf was shot in the belly and died two days later as a result of the wound. Two cows were severely injured, one in the hip and one in the head, after being hit with a piece of steel resembling an ax.

The value of the two calves is estimated at $800.

Karl said information from witnesses led to the arrest of Schmidt, and at this time another arrest is pending.

"There is a juvenile involved who is presently on a work farm. We will probably bring him here and book him with this charge, which he will have to deal with following the time he is presently serving."

Schmidt is presently out of jail on a $5,000 bond, Karl concluded.

Ambrose is interested in recollections from soldiers in any military division, who served in whatever capacity on D-Day. He is particularly interested in obtaining oral histories from local veterans. "I have many from Mississippi, but I don't believe I have any from Hancock County veterans."

Those interested in contributing to the history should either call 1-504-286-7110 or write Ambrose at The Eisenhower Center, University of New Orleans, Ed-128, Lake front, New Orleans, LA 70148.

Bay resident honored for volunteering

Bay St. Louis resident Joe Cuccia, 80, was recently awarded a plaque by the Hancock County Retired Seniors Volunteer Program (RSVP) for dedicated service. Cuccia, a participant in the program since 1980, was presented with a certificate of distinguished citizenship by the City of Waveland. Due to illness, Cuccia is unable to travel to the center any longer. He said, he misses the people he came to know as friends. (Echo staff photo by Jacqui Cochran)

Art in clay

Clay artist Nancy McCordell will present a show of her work at the Bay St. Louis library through mid-October. She produces white-clay, bas-relief portraits of private homes. The commissions usually take two to three months to complete, including three separate firings and one month drying time. The Pass Christian artist works from photographs. (Photo by T. H. (Doc) Touns.

Children in Arts competition underway

The fifth annual Children in the Arts Competition, sponsored by Coast Episcopal School and Coast Magazine, is now being conducted in schools along the Coast.

For the first time the competition will include art work from students in grades nine through 12 as well as grades four through eight.

Entrance into the competition is through the student's school, and each school will select one winner from each grade level to compete.

The overall winners will be presented savings bonds, and all entrants will be invited to an art workshop conducted by Gulf Coast artists.

This year Winfield Gallery of Gulfport will honor all winners at a reception on Friday, Oct. 11 and exhibit their work through Oct. 17.

All works in the competition will also be on display at Coast Episcopal School's Toast to the Coast Friday, Oct. 18 in Pass Christian.

ARTIN' ABOUT

Artin' About is a regular feature of The Sea Coast Echo, providing information about local and state fine and performing arts events. Contributions are welcome, and should be addressed to: Artin' About, Sea Coast Echo, P.O. Box 2009, Bay St. Louis, MS 39521-2009. Submissions will be included on a space available basis, with first consideration given to those events nearest publication date.

Serenity Gallery and Bookstore will host an exhibit Sunday, Oct. 6, 2-5 p.m., of artwork by survivors of childhood trauma. Much of the work, which ranges from drawing and painting to poetry and performance art, is being submitted anonymously.

The exhibit is the climax of a three-day workshop on healing through art. For information, call 467-3061.

The DaValt Studio at 212 Main Street in Bay St. Louis has been in operation since January, repairing and restoring artwork for collectors and antique dealers in the area. Prior to the opening, the work was handled in New Orleans.

The studio is managed by Carrie M. DaValt, a Pass Christian Isles resident with a degree in fine art and many years of experience in art restoration. She brings to the area expert restoration ability, an artist's appreciation of the work itself and an understanding of the original artist's methods and conception. Her own paintings and photographs have appeared in several shows across the country and have won awards.

Many local galleries and Gulf Coast art collectors, as well as antique dealers, use the DaValt Studio. Inquiries are welcome.

Hillyer House on East Scenic Drive in Pass Christian is hosting an art exhibit through the month of September.

Featured are: "The Bayou", a mixed media piece by Barbara Wing; "Botanicals", watercolors by Ellen Reeves; "Sterling Fish Collection", jewelry by Gail Tomson; and other pieces representing 48 artists from the Gulf Coast to the West Coast.

For more information, call Paige Reed at 452-4810.

In the performing arts:

An inopportune power failure provides the setting for Black Comedy, a Center Stage production being performed through September 29.

Directed by Chuck White, this Peter Shaffer play showcases several wacky characters, lots of physical comedy and hysterical confusion. The show concerns a young suitor, a debutante, a German art dealer, an antique dealer and a tipsy spinster who in the dark is served scotch instead of lemonade.

The performances are set for 8 p.m. each evening. An afternoon showing will be given Sunday at 3 p.m.

Tickets are $10 for adults and $6 for children.

Writer/actors Will Osborne and Anthony Herrera will present the Mississippi premiere of their play Smoke & Mirrors Wednesday, Oct. 9, 7:30 p.m., at Mississippi Gulf Coast Community College, Perkinston Campus Fine Arts Department.

The comedy/mystery stars Herrera, Osborne, Marilyn McIntyre, Jack Stevens and Patrick St. Estrit.

Tickets are $10 general

COOKING UP A STORM

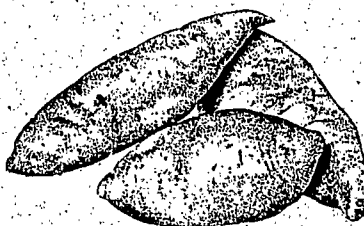

By Katy McGuire Caire

Sweet potatoes, especially the orange-fleshed yams, are truly a Southern food; more are consumed down South than anywhere else in the country! And in the Southland, we celebrate their goodness with festivals honoring this most delectable of vegetables. If you've questioned the interchangeable use of the words "yam" and "sweet potato," the yam is smaller and deeper-orange-fleshed than the sweet potato. And, the yam came to us from Africa, while the sweet potato is native to the Western Hemisphere.

I brought home a few small sugar-sweet yams the other day, the flesh as bright as the setting sun, and baked them, intending the leftovers for use next day in yam cakes or some other dish. But, they were so good that I gobbled them up, with just a bit of butter, skins and all! But, if you're not as piggy as I, you might pare and slice leftover yams or sweet potatoes, and pan fry them in a bit of butter, until they form that grand black, delicious charred crust!

Another favorite if mine is:

SHERRIED YAMS
6 small to medium yams or sweet potatoes
1 cup sugar
1/2 cup water
4 or 5 sticks cinnamon
8 whole cloves
8 whole allspice berries
1/4 cup sherry

Combine the sugar, water, cinnamon, cloves and allspice, along with a dash of salt, if you wish it. Bring to boiling over medium heat and cook for 15 minutes. Remove the spices, and add the sweet potatoes and the sherry, heating to serving temperature. (6 servings.)

Sweet potato balls are another tasty way to serve the "sweets" especially for a buffet meal or at holiday time. Here's:

SWEET POTATO-HONEY BALLS
2 1/2 cups mashed cooked

sweet potatoes (may use canned)

Dash of pepper and salt
5 Tblsp. melted butter
1/2 cup miniature marshmallows
1/2 cup honey

1 cup chopped pecans
Combine the potatoes, salt and pepper with 2 tablespoons of the butter, and stir in the marshmallows. Chill. When well chilled, shape the potato mixture into balls (using 1/4 cup for each). Combine 2 tablespoons of the butter with the honey in a small, heavy skillet, and add the potato balls one at a time, swiftly coating each with the glaze. Roll the balls in the pecans, and place in a greased shallow casserole dish. Drizzle with the remaining tablespoon of butter, and bake at 350 degrees for 15 to 20 minutes. (8 to 10 servings.)

Oktoberfest set this weekend

Fellowship, German food, German music, beer, contests, arts, crafts and every little bit of everything that is German awaits at the 15th annual Mississippi Gulf Coast Oktoberfest. The event will be at the Rice Pavilion (in front of Marine Life Oceanarium) on Hwy. 90 in Gulfport on Sept. 27-29.

Doors will open Friday at 5 p.m. and on Saturday and Sunday at 11 a.m.

The Lederhosen and Dirndl Contest has been added this year awarding $100 to the couple who wins the contest for wearing the most authentic costume.

"The Mitternachtsers" German Band, translated into English means "The Midnighters," will perform.

One of the musical instruments the band plays is the Alphorn, a wooden instrument 12 feet long with a curving bell, and has the shape of a trumpet or straight. The band plays various styles of music ranging from folks music to modern tunes. Mina, their vocalist, was born and reared near Munich, where the famous Oktoberfest celebration originated 181 years ago.

Yeast breads demo planned at county extension office

Fall weather brings visions of cozy homes, warm fires and aromatic home cooking. One of my favorite cool season activities is breadmaking. With hectic schedules, the rapid rise yeast bread technique guarantees traditional yeast bread flavor with the flexibility of quick breads.

Learn how to make a variety of rapid rise yeast breads by attending a free demonstration Thursday, Oct. 3 at 9:30 a.m. The program will be repeated at 6:30 p.m. The class will be in the meeting room, Hancock Human Services Building, Longfellow Road, Bay St. Louis.

Participants are asked to pre-register by calling 467-5456 by Monday, Sept. 30 to allow time to prepare handout materials.

This program is sponsored by the Hancock County Extension Service. Lisa Landon, George County home economist, will be the instructor.

Fenton Fire Dept. dishes out spaghetti

The Fenton Fire Department is holding its annual fund-raiser spaghetti dinner 11 a.m. to 3 p.m. Sunday.

The firefighters will be dishing out shrimp and spaghetti and a meat sauce with the pasta at the Fire Tower and Fenton-Dedeaux Roads station.

Volunteer fire department president Lester Curvin said,

"This is an annual event during which the people have been very supportive in the past."

"Right now we are putting in a driveway and it will cost us about $800 more than anticipated. The money made from the dinner will probably be used to help with that cost."

Dinners may be eaten in or taken home.

OLA's Campus Ministry attracts 59

At its organizational meeting for the 1991-92 school year, Our Lady Academy's Campus Ministry organization, registered 59 members, according to Sister M. Elisa Bauman, RSM, assistant principal and Campus Ministry coordinator.

Elected to lead Campus Ministry this year are Kirsten Tusa, president; Amy Lee, vice president; Cassie Hille, secretary; and Kim Nguyen, treasurer.

OLA's campus ministers plan to visit, pray with and entertain senior citizens at nursing homes and retirement complexes, to assist charitable organizations with their needs.

The group will support projects in the parishes and for Saltillo, minister to the student body as singers, ushers, lectors and commentators, and to aid their own spiritual growth through prayer and Bible study.

Representatives from each grade level were chosen to communicate specific activities of Campus Ministry to the whole student body and to invite their participation on specific projects.

Representatives are Kristin Krogstad and Khuyen Tran, seniors; Swanna MacNair and Cheryl Willett, juniors; Erin O'Brien and Margaret Welz, sophomores; and Jennifer Myers and Julie Ryan, freshmen.

The eighth grade chose Monique Hazeur and Marion Labat; the seventh grade elected Ginger Felder and Kathryn Scaife.

Members of OLA's 1991-92 campus ministry from the senior class are Leigh Chapman, Alyson Cousins, Cassie Hille, Jenette Hockett, Karen Kohl, Kristin Krogstad, Jessica Taylor, Khuyen Tran and Kristin Tusa.

Junior members are Krista Albright, Clarinda Alcalen, Katie Blount, Jennifer Clark, Amy Lee, Swanna MacNair, Kim Nguyen, Andrea Platz and Cheryl Willett.

Presentations to the seventh and eighth grades resulted in a large membership from both grades. Eighth grade students are Danette Bourgeois, Mollie Davidson, Nana Delgado, Monique Evans, Monique Hazeur, Kellie Hille, Emleigh Jacobs, Marian Labat, Karleen Lawrence, Dawn Lewis, Mary Munger, Shirley Niolet, Jamie Randolph, Sandy Reed and Caroline Weems.

Those committing to campus ministry from the seventh grade are Katy Becker, Ana Caboni, Corinne Carver, Dayna Castaneda, Tiffany Coulter, Julie Dreher, Erin Favre, Ginger Felder, Jennifer Kennelly, Amy Ann MacDonald, Vicki McDonald, Katrina Nordin, Melissa Ridgeway, Kathryn Scaife, Jessica Strickland, Sarah Taylor, Jennie Warnke and Katy Wiley.

EDUCATION NOTES

Bay High introduces new faculty members

New faculty members at Bay High are Melissa Johnson, Katrina Pachel, Mark Collins, Kristina Van Hutten, Jane Lamb and Holly Salters.

Johnson, a first-year educator from Waveland, is a former Bay High graduate. She works with at-risk students in all four schools of the Bay-Waveland School District.

The new music director is Katrina Pachel from Tullahoma, Tenn. She is a first-year teacher.

Collins, a native of Natchez, teaches government, economics, and physical education. He has taught school for two years.

Joining the math department is Kristina Van Hutten from Pasadena, Calif. She was formerly employed with the Camden County School System in Georgia and has taught school for 11 years.

Lamb, a Bay St. Louis resident, has taught school for 19 years. For the past five years, she has been a member of the Bay-Waveland Middle School faculty. Lamb is teaching marketing and cooperative education and sponsors the Distributive Education Clubs of America.

The new special education teacher is Holly Salters. She resides in Ocean Springs.

Hancock Student Council members attend conference

Members of the Hancock High School Student Council participated in the MSASC's third annual student council leadership conference hosted by Jones Junior College. Members attending were Renee Caston, Rachel Guerra, Shannon Heard, Des Rae Ladner, Angie McGee and Oreathia Smith.

During this conference, Hancock members learned leadership skills from lectures, skit performances and speech competitions. Rachel Guerra received first place and Renee Caston received second place in a speech competition.

The student council members acknowledged the following corporations that made the conference possible for the members: Diamondhead Supermarket, Diamondhead Century 21, Sverdrup Technologies and Soundstation.

Montagnets attend Parents' Weekend at Naval Academy

Mr. and Mrs. O.S. Montagnet Jr. of Pass Christian visited their son, Midshipman John Manning Montagnet during Parents' Weekend at the U.S. Naval Academy in Annapolis, Md.

Montagnet was among 1,133 young men and women to enter the academy in July. The '91 graduate of St. Stanislaus was selected from more than 11,500 applicants to the Naval Academy.

A four-year honor roll student, Montagnet was co-salutatorian of his graduating class and president of the National Honor Society. He was a member of Who's Who Among American High School Students, the French Honor Society and served as secretary of Mu Alpha Theta.

Montagnet was secretary of the Key Club, captain of the varsity cheerleaders, attended Mississippi Boys' State, and lettered in varsity basketball and tennis.

He served as captain of SSC sailing team in their first appearance at the Interscholastic Yacht Racing Association's High School National Championship that earned them a Bronze Medal.

Montagnet was a member of the 1990 USYRU/ROLEX Junior Sailing Team and received the F. Gardner Cox Sportsmanship Award and the Bronze Medal at the Sears Cup National Championship.

He was the 1990 FSSA Junior North American Champion. Montagnet is presently a member of the United States Naval Academy's Sailing Team.

CIRCLES OF CONFUSION

All about
photography 'n stuff
By T.H. 'Doc' Toups

So there I sat. My motorcycle was broken. It was dark. It was Friday the thirteenth.

In the best of times, one's motorcycle breaks down in front of a friendly-looking establishment with a name like "Miss Lilly's Home For Lonely Ladies And Distressed Motorcyclists." In the worst of times, one's motorcycle breaks down in the middle of the Bay of Saint Louis bridge.

It was the worst of times. Perched on that malevolently narrow medium strip, I bravely stared down headlights coming from both directions. OK, already! I really flinched in terror at headlights coming from both directions, but that doesn't read nearly as well. With camera hanging at my side, I was at least ready to record my own demise.

(Ladies and gentlemen, we are posthumously presenting this year's Pulitzer to Doc Toups for recording his own end in a spectacular 57-vehicle pile-up on the Bay bridge. The judging panel was especially impressed by his aerial composition and use of a slow shutter speed to impart a sense of motion.)

Naturally, the primary consideration of any normal photographer would be to avoid getting stuck on a bridge, in the dark, on Friday the thirteenth. We news photographers tend to be more concerned about having a camera ready when we do.

Eventually, the patron saint of news photographers on broken motorcycles sent someone to rescue me, and I decided to devote a column to the importance of having a camera ready at all times. This may strike some as a self-evident proposition for a news photographer, but it must be remembered that part of the photo-journalist's craft involves making the profoundly obvious seem obviously profound.

Arthur Fellig (better known as "Weegee"), the quintessential news photographer of the '40s and '50s was said to have an almost mystical ability to anticipate spot news and get his picture. The story is told that he was once asked what his secret was for getting good news photos. Supposedly he replied, "f-11 and be there."

Fellig's choice of photographic weapon was the Speed Graphic, a heavy monster of a camera which produced 4"x5" negatives. Slow and awkward to bring into use, this camera was nevertheless the press photographer's standard for several decades. Many of his century's most memorable images were captured on Old Speeds. The last one left the factory in 1973.

Today the standard press photographer's camera is a 35mm single lens reflex model. By itself, this type of camera is diminutive compared to the Old Speed Graphic, but when extra lenses are added, a spare camera body or two and all the gadgets most press photographers are fond of are thrown in, the resultant package is probably heavier than what Old Weegee carried.

Even by itself, a line 35mm SLR can be difficult to carry all of the time. Recent years have seen the introduction of reasonably priced, capable "point and shoot" cameras. Some of these are literally as small as a package of cigarettes and are capable of producing fine 35mm imagery. One of these little wonders could be your answer to the problem of always having a camera ready for that once-in-a-life-time picture.

Shooting spot news is one of the easiest ways for an amateur photographer to see his or her work in print. Newspapers and magazines have limited resources and can't have photographers on all newsworthy stories at all times.

Virtually all of them will consider freelance submissions if the story is important and one of their staffers wasn't able to cover it.

If you have an exclusive on a major fire, accident or crime, call your local paper's city desk or photo editor as soon as you shoot the film and tell them what you've got. Do this immediately because, especially with a daily paper, day-old photos are usually considered to be 'stale' and are unsellable.

Get to know some of the people in the photo department of local publications and find out what type of film they use. Keep this in your "carry" camera. Most smaller papers still use black and white, while many larger dailies have made the switch to color negatives. Magazines tend to use black and white or color slides. Finding out what your local publication uses will give you a marketing edge.

OK, gang. This should get you started. Remember: Always carry a camera, find out what film you should use, get to now a contact at your local publication and call quickly after you've got pictures.

That's it for this week. Good luck, and good shooting. Watch out for bridges.

Tigers seek second win

BY RANDY PONDER

"This is a critical game for us," Bay High coach Rocky Gaudin said as his Tigers prepare to venture into hostile territory for the second of four consecutive district games.

Winners last week in an 18-13 contest with Forrest County, BHIS will travel to East Marion Friday looking to improve on their 1-2 record.

"East Marion has a very respected program, renowned for their athletic talent year after year. Playing them at their place is a very tough assignment. They have good size and tremendous speed," Gaudin explained.

They also won their game last week, beating Vancleave 21-6. East Marion is 1-0 in conference play and 2-1 overall.

Gaudin praised his defensive unit for their come-from-behind win. "We came back in the second half to shut out the Aggies after playing a bad first half."

Jeff Hopgood, Mark Murray, Miquel Smith, Kris Barlow, Jimmy Strong, Dwayne Antoine, Brenan Compretta, Gerrit Carver, Jamie Kingston, L.C. Curry and Kris Roberts completely dominated the second half, according to Gaudin.

The winning points in that game were scored by sophomore quarterback Sam Shepard on an 11-yard run in the fourth period.

The Tigers' other scores came on a TD pass from Shepard to Marcel Whavers in the second quarter, and on a 70-yard option pass from Adrian Whav-ers was incorrectly named as making that catch.

It was a great play and Lewis certainly deserves credit. Catch another one like that this week, Floyd, and your name just might be in the headlines!

Gaudin also singled out Jason Loiacano for a good job blocking, running and for catching a critical fourth and ten pass for a first down.

Adrian Whavers carried the ball 19 times for 86 yards followed by Loiacano, six for 20 yards and Shepard, 32 yards on five attempts against Forrest County.

A big turnout of hometown support would make the trip to East Marion a little less hostile. Game time is 7:30 p.m.

A lot of defense

St. Stanislaus Rock-A-Chaws showed the St. Martin Yellow Jackets a lot of defense on Friday night, defeating the visitors 21-6. Stanislaus' players are in the dark uniforms and include, from left, Robert Prince, No. 82, John Rutherford IV, No. 50, and Dwayne Raphael, No. 51. Stanislaus will play host to East Central Friday night at Rock-A-Chaw Stadium. (Echo staff photo by Ellis Cuevas)

Stanislaus readies for E. Central

BY ELLIS CUEVAS

The St. Stanislaus Rock-A-Chaws will be seeking victory number four in high school competition Friday night, playing host to East Central.

The Rocks, off to one of the best starts in recent years, will be playing their second conference game of the season.

After reviewing last week's victory over St. Martin, head coach Ken Lyons said, "I am happy with the performance of the team against St. Martin, even though we made a few mental errors."

"We are working on those this week in preparation for East Central, a team which we lost to last season by a 7-2 score," Lyons added.

In sizing up East Central's 1991 team, Lyons commented, "They play aggressive defense. They make you throw in a hurry, and play a pretty sound ball control style of football."

"East Central runs from a power winged T-style, which is similar to Picayune's. They have a quarterback who throws better than last year's, a large fullback, but they did have a better team last season," Lyons said.

On the injury side, SSC has a few bruises and Stanley Chapman, who left the game in the first half last week due to an injury, should be ready to play.

Both East Central and Stanislaus are about the same in size and number of players, Lyons said.

In preparing for East Central, the Rock-A-Chaws will probably have a few new 'wrinkles,' and will use the same style of offense and will rely on Bill Dreher's shovel pass when pressured, Lyons said.

Stanislaus is in a district involving seven teams, and a school will have to 'earn' a playoff berth this season, as the district is well-balanced, Lyons said.

Kickoff is set for 7:30 p.m. at the Rock-A-Chaw Stadium.

Jr. Hawks remain undefeated

BY JANET MCQUEEN

The Hancock High School seventh and eighth grade team boasts a 3-0 record, beating Long Beach last Thursday for the first time in four years.

Following a touchdown by Long Beach in the first quarter, halfback Mike Fountain broke through the left side to tie the score at 6-6. The extra point attempt failed.

The Hawks trailed 14-6 in the second quarter when Fountain ran five yards around the right end for a second touchdown; the extra point attempt was no good, upping the score to 14-12 in favor of the Bearcats.

Following a scoreless third quarter, the Hawks drove 65 yards to take the lead with 5:20 left in the game. Fountain scored on a 1-yard run to give the Hawks their first lead, while Kent Malley added the extra point.

St. Martin responded with another touchdown with 2:10 left on the clock, to lead 22-20, said Hawk coach Fred Bilbo. The Hawks took over on their own 35-yard line when quarterback Brett Cuevas hit Kent Malley for 64 yards on the Bearcat one yard line.

With only 30 seconds to spare, Malley took with ball in for six points. Mike Fountain added the extra point for a 28-22 win for the Hawks.

Bilbo named Malley, Fountain and Cuevas, along with players Sterlin Koolmin and Michael Fejka for their outstanding efforts on offense. J. J. Hay and Kelley Seale were noted for outstanding defensive play.

The seventh/eighth grade team will host St. Martin tonight at 5:30 at the Hancock field.

NINTH GRADE TEAM
The Hancock ninth grade

team was overpowered by the Long Beach freshmen in a 30-6 contest. Thursday, although they put forth a good effort, said Bilbo.

Brad Ladner scored for the Hawks on a 5-yard run for their only points. Ladner was complimented for his efforts on offense, while James Berry was noted for outstanding defensive play, according to the coaching staff.

The ninth grade Hawks are 1-1 for the season, and will host the St. Martin Yellow Jackets at home at 7 p.m. Thursday.

Hancock begins district play

BY JACQUI COCHRAN

Hancock High School is to play its first district game Friday against the St. Martin Yellow Jackets in Ocean Springs.

Coach Irvin Favre said though he feels the Hawks are in pretty good shape for tomorrow night's game, he expects the game to be a tough one.

"It should be a hard, aggressively fought game."

"Last week they (St. Martin) lost to St. Stanislaus, but then, it was a very close score. They kept tight scores well into the second half."

Favre commented, St. Stanislaus is a very strong team this year and St. Martin's play against them last week showed their ability to be a real competitor.

"Going into this game," Favre added, "we know we will have to contain St. Martin's two top running backs, Randy Breminger and Alan French."

"French, weighing 205, gave SSC a lot of trouble."

"We are going to have to do a super job on those two people. Our defense will have to be geared to put some pressure on those two. We can't let them have a big night."

Hancock High claimed its first victory last week against the Long Beach Bearcats with a runaway 24-0 final score.

Favre stated, even though HHS won, there were still too many mistakes made by his team.

"They sputtered on offense and the kicking game was really a disappointment."

"Long Beach wasn't a very good team. We coasted. We didn't do a very good job."

He said HHS did execute well through the Bearcat game and the defense played a pretty good game, but improvements in offense and specialties had to be made.

"Especially in the kicking game, I really thought we were pitiful."

Center Eric Necaise, expected to be out for the Long Beach game, was able to play. Favre said, he expected Necaise to be playing tomorrow as well as guard Anthony "Gator" Lee.

"This is a big game for us," the coach reported. "As you know, you have to win district games to be in the running."

St. Stanislaus Players of the Week

John Rutherford

Mike Lee

Brett Heitzmann

Mickey Quinlan

Allen Schafer

The coaching staff of the St. Stanislaus team has selected five outstanding players in last Friday's game against the St. Martin's Hawks. Defensive players honored were John Rutherford, senior inside linebacker and son of Dr. and Mrs. J. D. Rutherford III; Mike Lee, senior defensive back and son of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Lee. Offensive players are Brett Heitzmann, senior offensive guard and son of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Heitzmann; Mickey Quinlan, senior wide receiver and son of Mr. and Mrs. Mick Quinlan; and more kicker Allen Schafer, son of Mr. and Mrs. Frederick Schafer, was honored on special teams. One win, two losses for Tigers against Mercy Cross, Poplarville

BY TRACI BONNEY
The 7th/8th grade Bay Jr. High Tigers lost their first game of the season last Thursday at home to Poplarville, while the ninth grade team remains undefeated with a home game win Thursday over Mercy Cross. The B team lost in an away game to Poplarville Monday.

The J.B. team lost 14-8 on a field strewn with scattered rain. The team's next match is against St. Stanislaus at the SSC field September 30.

While he had little comment on the B team game, Coach Rocky Gaudin said of the 7th/8th grade game, "They lost their first game of the year to a very strong Poplarville squad. The Tigers fell behind 14-0 in the first half, but battled back to have a chance of winning in the second half behind a TD run and extra point kick by Wali Shabazz. "The offense struggled despite good efforts from M.J. Krankey, Jeremy Turcotte and Shabazz. The defense was led by Shabazz, Danny Pettrell and J.T. Tillman."

The 7th/8th grade team plays its next match tonight in d'Iberville.

His comments on the 42-0 9th grade shutout of Mercy Cross were, "They won easily over Mercy Cross behind TD runs from Xavier Lewis, LeRoy Hawkins and Brad Laneaux. Raleigh Murphy did a good job again at quarterback and played a good defensive back all night."

"The defense was led by Yancey Mayfield, Chris Russ, LeRoy Hawkins, Brad Laneaux and Raleigh Murphy. "This small squad of 14 players continues to play hard and win."

The 9th graders play their next game tonight in d'Iberville. Gaudin's overall assessment of the games:

"The 9th grade team rolled to their third straight victory despite having only a 14-man squad (down to 13 this week following an injury to one of the players in a traffic accident Friday)."

"The 7th/8th graders were at first outmanned and intimidated by the Poplarville squad but got back after them in the second half to make a good game of it."

Bay Jr. High Player of Week

Ninth grader LeRoy Hawkins was chosen as High Player of the Week by the Bay High Athletic Club for the week of September 16-20. He had a 68-yard touchdown run and played an outstanding game against Mercy Cross, said coach Rocky Gaudin. Bay High Athletic Club Junior High Player of the Week awards are sponsored by John McDonald Realty.

Fred Lewis, #28, junior wing-back, was named the Bay High Athletic Club Offensive Player of the Week of the Week. He caught a 70-yard touchdown pass in Friday night's game against Forrest County, in addition to doing a great job blocking on offense and on special teams, said coach Rocky Gaudin. Junior tailback L. C. Curry Jr., #22, was named Defensive Player of the Week. He recovered a fumble and made five tackles and was noted for his punting and kickoff returns. FISHIN' Y'ALL

By Jim Maness

It's time to go fishin' y'all. Crabs, crabs, crabs. Here a crab, there a crab, everywhere a crab. Not the two-legged type, but the scrump-diddle-licious, lip-smacking, eating type. That is the story from all over the water this past week.

It seems that there is not a place that a person can go where they cannot catch a couple dozen crabs in lick-ke-de-split time.

The crabs are cram full of fat and firm of flesh.

Most of the people I spoke to this week were catching crabs along the seawall. But, the greatest number of crabs were being caught about one quarter mile out from the sea wall.

The method that produces the fastest results is to use about a dozen nets with floats. I recommend that you tie the float about 10 to 15 feet above the net. This distance allows you to get the net on the bottom in most shallow water. But, most importantly, it allows you a short enough line that you can rapidly pull the net up without losing your catch.

Your "crab line" should be set up so that there are at least 25 to 50 feet between your nets. This allows the smell of your bait to cover a larger area and attract more crabs to your nets.

A few folks were keeping their catch of crabs in a five-gallon bucket full of water. This is a "no-no." When you keep your crabs in a bucket of water, they will drown. That is right—they will drown. Crabs in a bucket rapidly use up all of the oxygen in the water, and they die.

The best way to keep your catch is to place them in a basket or a bucket without water. They should be kept in the shade, and water should be poured over them occasionally to keep them cool. If you can find some Spanish moss, wet it and put it on top of your crabs. It will keep them alive for a long time. The crabs can get enough oxygen out of the air to keep them alive long enough for you to get them home.

I have been hearing stories about BMR writing tickets for people keeping small crabs. This is no rumor. The law is: You cannot keep a crab that is less than 5 inches measured from point to point. BMR is issuing tickets to people who are keeping crabs that measure less than five inches point to point.

Over 1,400 people signed a petition calling for a rehearing on the speckled trout size limitations. This petition was given to the Secretary of State, the Governor, and BMR. This petition cited the Mississippi Law codes that allow the public to request a rehearing on a BMR ordinance.

The commission chose to ignore Mississippi Law codes, and denied the rehearing. Their stated reason was that the public had a chance to make their dissent known at two previous public hearings, and the Commission did not feel they wanted to grant another hearing regardless of what the Mississippi law codes stated.

Last week I told you that I would give a report on the number and type of violations that have been written by BMR. The report is taken from information that is on record at the Hancock County Justice Court, and reflects citations issued in the Hancock County area during the period of August 1, 1989 to April 11, 1991.

No fishing license—64. No boat registration—71. No life preservers—65. Oyster violations—15. Shrimp violations—18. Gill net violations—21. Undersize trout—8. Undersize reds—4. Over the limit fish—1. Undersize crabs—6. Skiing without an observer—10.

This week's wonderful wise words: It is too bad politicians are not like undersize fish; you could throw them back.

Run, turtle, run.

CEHS Raiders post two wins in soccer

The Coast Episcopal High School soccer team played two games this past week in Hattiesburg.

In the first game on Thursday, the Raiders defeated team No. 1 in the Hattiesburg Recreation League 3-1. Junior Nathan Guice scored all three goals.

In the second game on Saturday, the Raiders defeated team No. 4, 4-1. Freshman Marty VanderNoot scored two goals and Guice scored 2 goals in the first half. Guice also scored one goal in the second half.

Goalie Chris Painter, senior, stopped a direct penalty kick in the second half.

Team members playing for the Raiders are seniors Frank Arrington, Lars Bensmann, Adam Farragut, Dave Hagan, Mike Lee and Lee Wheatley.

Junior George Hlass; freshmen Phillip Blount, David

Braddon and Daniel Price;

Eighth graders Jamie Hom-

son, Mike Strojny, John Dane,

Sanders Kane and Alan Uram;

and seventh graders Danny

Braddon, Michael Drennon,

Marc Mortimer and Liam

Fitzpatrick.

The Raiders now have a 2-1 record on the season. The next game will be played against

Hattiesburg team No. 3 at 10

complex.

Commercial snapper season to close Oct. 29

Commercial red snapper fishing will close in Mississippi waters Oct. 29.

The Commission on Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks gave final approval of the closure.

The commission made preliminary approval of the closure at its August meeting, upon recommendation of the Bureau of Marine Resources. BMR biologists made the recommendation after receiving word that federal waters in the Gulf of Mexico were closed to commercial red snapper fishing Aug. 24.

Mississippi's Administrative Procedures Act requires a 30-day public-comment period after preliminary approval and another 30-day waiting period after final approval before an ordinance is effective.

Season for the commercial taking of red fish will open again Jan. 1 1992.

She's a winner

Hancock first grader takes state riding trophies

BY JACQUI COCHRAN
Toni Necaise of Standard Community impressed crowds this month when she captured four trophies at the state horse show championships in Jackson.

On September 7, Toni claimed first place in poles, fourth place in barrels, third place in the arena race and third place in quad-angle stakes.

She competed in the 12-and-under age group limited to ponies up to 52 inches in height.

Toni, unconcerned over the fuss, proves it is no big deal.

allowed her to begin riding at the age of four.

"She practiced every day," Deanie Necaise added.

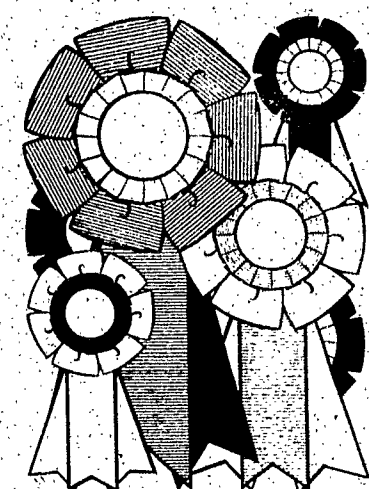

Toni's parents said she began on a smaller pony, and walking, trotting and loping (galloping) came naturally to her.

At the end of last year Toni informed her parents that her pony just wasn't fast enough. "She is still saying her pony isn't fast enough," her father suspiciously commented.

Toni's parents explained, throughout the year their daughter participates in various local events sponsored by like to see Toni continue with her interest in horses as she grows older.

"There are so many things in this world to tempt and hurt our children that I would like her to develop a strong interest in a positive activity."

The Necaises said Toni was still too young to appreciate all the work involved in caring for horses. Her father does the majority of the chores though Toni is required to help out in the grooming and feeding of her animals.

The hardest part of horse show participation for the Necaises is the lateness of the timed events.

Deanie Necaise said the day's events begin with pleasure showing and the timed events usually follow later that evening. "We have cancelled her participation many times because her events didn't begin until well into the night."

They would like to see the events for the smaller children scheduled earlier.

At the state championship Toni competed against approximately 50 riders in each event. She rode in competition with boys and girls up to 13 years of age.

Toni is a first grade student at Hancock North Central Elementary School, and made cheerleading team mascot this year.

She is a member of the Hancock Riding Club, the Mississippi Horse Show and Rodeo Association Youth Council and the Cowgirls Barrel Racing Association.

Deanie Necaise stated, "Maybe it is because she is young that she did so well this year."

"She was so relaxed that I believe she really wasn't aware of the pressure she was facing."

Toni Necaise interjected, "We knew the pony could do it, but we were afraid she might freeze up."

"But she proved us wrong. She was a natural."

rides with ease as her 42-inch tall pony gallops at full speed, taking sharp turns and commands through the motions of her small arms and legs.

Her parents, Tony and Deanie Necaise, are Toni's biggest supporters.

They said Toni showed such an interest in riding that they

the Southern Mississippi Horse Show and Rodeo Association. Points are accumulated, and the six top ponies and riders from 13 associations proceed to the state event.

The Necaises said they love the society of family horse show events encourage.

Carter baseball card benefits Leukemia Society

Baseball fans can get an official autographed baseball card of Los Angeles Dodgers catcher Gary Carter and at the same time support the Leukemia Society of America.

For the contribution of $25 or more to the Leukemia Society of America, Carter will send an autographed 1991 baseball card. All funds raised from the project will benefit the society's battle against leukemia and related diseases.

Carter, an 11-time All-Star team member, has served as the Leukemia Society's national sports chairman since 1985. He initiated the autographed baseball card project in late 1984 and has personally raised over $1.5 million for the society. Carter's interest in leukemia research is spurred by the loss of his mother, Inge Charlotte Carter, to the disease in 1966.

Carter received Major League Baseball's Roberto Clemente Award in 1989 for his work on behalf of the society.

Checks for the baseball cards should be made out to the Leukemia Society of America, and sent to:

Los Angeles Dodgers, Dept. of Community relations, Dodger Stadium, 1000 Elysian Park Avenue, Los Angeles, Calif. 90012-1199, or:

Gary Carter, Leukemia Society of America, 733 Third Avenue, New York, N.Y. 10017.

Fans requesting a card signed from their collection should send the card with their donation and request.

The Leukemia Society of America is a national voluntary health agency supporting programs of research, patient assistance, public and professional education and community service.

PRC alumni golf tournament planned

Pearl River Community College's fifth annual alumni golf tournament will be at the Lake Hillsdale Golf Club Friday, Oct. 11.

The tournament is open to alumni, faculty, staff and friends of the college. Trophies will be presented to alumni and open tournament winners.

Participants will be pre-flighted according to handicaps. A shotgun start is set for 12:30 p.m.

The cost of the 18-hole tournament is $20 per person and includes green fees, cart rental, prizes and lunch.

Register no later than Oct. 4 by sending in your handicap, along with a check made payable to the PRC Development Foundation, Station A, Box 5389, Poplarville, MS 39470.

For additional information contact Danna Wilson at 601-795-6801 ext. 383.

There will be a cost recovery charge for some publications.

Labat wins title

Myron Labat Jr. is the 1991 champion of the Boys 16-Under Division of the MTA-Diamondhead Junior Tennis Tournament held Sept. 21-22.

Labat, seeded second in the tournament, received a bye in the first round.

In the second round he defeated St. Stanislaus teammate Francisco Monsech of St. Louis Potosi, Mexico by a score of 6-1, 6-1.

The semi-finals saw Labat defeat Chris Laborde of New Orleans, La. in a hard-fought 6-4, 6-2 battle.

The finals pitted Labat against the tournament's number one seed, Patrick Riley of Slidell, La.

Labat used aggressive groundstrokes and pin-point accuracy on passing shots to come away with a 6-2, 6-1 victory over the tournament's top seed.

Oyster season to open Oct. 1

The state Commission on Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks voted to open Mississippi oyster season Oct. 1 at 7 a.m. The action was based on the recommendation of Bureau of Marine Resources biologists.

Oyster reefs may be closed any time during the season if the oysters are determined to be unfit for human consumption. There will be 30-sack limit per day on reefs west of the Gulfport Ship Channel and a six-sack limit per day on reefs east of the Gulfport Ship Channel. Recreational oystermen may take three sacks per seven-day period.

John Cirino, BMR shellfish coordinator, said that the only reefs that have oysters large enough to harvest in the western Mississippi Sound are Pass Marianne and Telegraph.

The only reefs open for long-term oysters in the eastern Sound will be Graveline Bayou and the East Jackson County reef complex. The oysters in the eastern Sound that will be harvested this year were relayed there during the summer by the BMR oyster crew and Jackson County oystermen, after heavy winter er rains destroyed the oyster crop in Graveline Bayou.

In the last two years, oyster season has opened in November. Cirino said BMR biologists recommended an earlier opening date because October is traditionally a dry month and will allow oystermen to harvest before the rainy weather begins. Heavy rainfall and runoff from the mainland may bring sewage into oyster beds forcing the reef closure.

Cirino said that his year's early opening date may allow oystermen to harvest more oysters and make more money, because the oyster season in Texas is scheduled to begin Nov. 15. Projections are that Texas will put a lot of oysters on the market, lowering oyster prices.

Cirino cautioned oystermen that there are many small oysters on the reefs, and the three-inch size limit on oysters will be strictly enforced.

Biologists project better oyster season than '90-91

Bureau of Marine Resources biologists told the Commission on Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks that the 1991-92 oyster season won't be any great shakes, but should produce a lot more oysters than were harvested last year. Mississippi oyster season will open Oct. 1 at 7 a.m.

John Cirino, BMR shellfish program coordinator, told commissioners that 35,000-50,000 sacks of oysters are projected to be harvested this year if environmental conditions remain favorable. A sack of oysters averages five to eight pounds of oyster meat.

The projected 35,000-50,000 sacks is a far cry from the hundreds of thousands of sacks harvested in years gone by, but is nearly three times the number of sacks (12,600) harvested last season and more than twice the number of sacks (15,700) harvested in 1989-90.

Cirino said that, while heavy winter rains laid waste to most oyster reefs in Mississippi, oysters on Pass Marianne and Telegraph reefs south of Pass Christian suffered minimal damage.

Most of this season's oysters will be harvested from these two reefs. These reefs were low producers of oysters in the last few seasons because of drought conditions and poor oyster recruitment.

In the east, Cirino projected a 3,800-sack harvest from Graveline Bayou and a 4,000-7,000 sack harvest from the East Jackson County oyster complex.

"The total harvest from these areas may vary from the projection depending on the number allowable harvest days," Cirino said. "But heavy or frequent rainfall may force premature closures on these reefs, limiting the number of harvest days, such as occurred during the last two seasons."

Heavy freshwater runoff from the mainland causes sewage-related bacteria to flow

South Hancock Beagle Club treasurer Craig Sellier (left) and secretary Wade Koenen were among the club members who helped treat more than 200 dogs last week during a club-sponsored free canine flea dip. Co-sponsor Clover Brand Feed-Washington Co-op supplied the kennel dip. In addition to dipping dogs, the club raffled a 25-pound bag of Clover Brand dog food every hour to those owners who registered to have their dogs treated. (Photo by Jim Maness)

Win A 1992 Cadillac Sedan de Ville!

GAME RULES & HOW TO PLAY

- NO PURCHASE NECESSARY TO PARTICIPATE IN THE GAME: Receive a free game board and game ticket on receipt at the checkout counter or store office. Limit one game ticket each adult (18 years of age or older) whose residence is within the U.S. or its territories per store visit per day.
- TO PLAY: Open the game ticket by punching out the perforated portions to reveal four markers. Place the markers on the game board. Do not allow markers to the game board with glue or tape. A person must be present to play.
- TO WIN: Match the game ticket markers to the corresponding squares on the game board to complete one game play box of all four (4) numbers to win the indicated prize. To win $10,000 or $1,000, you must match all four (4) numbers in the $10,000 game play box collection section. Only one winner per game board will be selected. There is, however, no limit to the number of times a customer may be a winner during the course of the promotion as long as all rules are followed. If a marker reads, "YOU WIN $1" or "YOU WIN A FOOTBALL," you may collect the prize immediately from any authorized store personnel upon presentation of the game board and game ticket.
- TO CLAIM A PRIZE: Customers must initial the front of all potential winning markers in the lower right hand corner. Transfer the markers to a new game board and sign full legal signature on the new game board, all in the presence of an authorized store representative who will verify and award the prize. Prizes of $25, $10, and $5 cash collectible, $1 instant win cash, and Spalding Football instant win may be verified and awarded the prize at the store level. Prize claim materials for potential winners of $10,000, $1,000, or $50 cash must be submitted by mail to the sponsor, who will be awarded. Winners will be notified within fourteen (14) days of receipt of submitted game boards. The game sponsors decision is final.
- Telephone Sweepstakes: For entry into the sweepstakes drawing for a 1992 Cadillac Sedan de Ville, approximately value $33,500, simply tape two (2) of the special Cadillac Logo game markers found in certain game tickets to the entry form printed on the game board or available in the store. Fill in your name, address, city, state, zip, phone number, and sign the entry form, then deposit your entry in the Tailgate Sweepstakes Entry Box at your participating Jitney Jungle, or Foodway store. There is no limit to the number of times you may enter the sweepstakes as long as each entry contains 2 Cadillac Logo game markers. Any entry not having 2 valid game markers will be disqualified. Entries become the property of the sponsor and will not be returned. Odds of winning the special Cadillac Logo game marker are 1 in 12 markers. Odds of winning the sweepstakes are 1 in 12,000,000. A list of winners may be found at the conclusion of the game by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope to: Tailgate Sweepstakes, P.O. Box 4400, Jackson, MS 39207. The sweepstakes drawing will be held Friday, December 20, 1991. Sweepstakes entries must be received by December 15, 1991, to be eligible for the drawing. Winners will be obligated to sign and return an affidavit of eligibility and liability release within 10 days of notification. In the event of noncompliance within the time period, vehicle will be awarded to alternate winner. Prize is nontransferable. No cash substitutes allowed. The 1992 Cadillac Sedan de Ville is pre-selected and winner will be unable to substitute any equipment or accessories. Winner is responsible for all taxes, title, license, doc fees, and inspection fees for vehicle. Vehicle must be picked up by winner at Jitney Jungle, 153 N. Mill St., Jackson, MS, accompanied with a check for all miscellaneous taxes, fees, etc. within seven (7) days of notification.
- Notice: Entry into the promotion constitutes permission to use name and photograph of licensee of prize winners for advertising purposes without additional compensation. Major prize winners will be obligated to sign and return an affidavit of eligibility and liability release within 10 days of notification by Jitney Jungle or Foodway. In the event of noncompliance within the time period, prize will not be awarded. All game materials submitted for verification become the property of the game sponsor and will not be returned. All Federal, State, or local tax liability on all prizes won in any category (game board or sweepstakes) is the responsibility of the prize winner. All winners release sponsoring and participating companies, their franchisees, subsidiaries and respective employees, and agents from any and all liabilities arising out of participation in the game. Employees of participating stores, the sponsor, its subsidiaries, game suppliers, the participating Cadillac dealerships, and their advertising agencies, and employee spouses (over 18 years old) who are residents of the state in which the game is being played are not eligible to play the consumer game or enter the sweepstakes.
- GAME MATERIALS: Only game materials with Serial J222 are valid for the game. All game materials will be rejected and judged VOID if not obtained from, and verified by, authorized store personnel. OR if any part of any game piece is illegible, altered, mutilated, defaced, tampered with, forged, contains printing or other errors, or is irregular in any way. Liability for any irregular game board or game ticket will be limited to replacement with another game board or game ticket. Any attempt to defraud or forge game materials in any way will be prosecuted to the fullest extent of the law. Game VOID where lost or prohibited by law. No more than the number of advertised prizes will be awarded. If as a result of printing error or similar occurrence the number of prize claims in any prize category exceeds the number of prizes set forth in the official rules, a random drawing will be conducted among all those entries making a purportedly valid claim to award the total number of prizes in the category. If a question arises as to the official rules, in any and all instances the decisions of the judges are final.
- ENDING OF GAME: The scheduled termination date is December 21, 1991. The game ends on the scheduled termination date or the date on which all game tickets are distributed. All game board prizes must be claimed by January 6, 1992, or prizes are forfeited. Unclaimed prizes will not be awarded.
- The sponsor may delay the game commencement date, and thereafter extend the game period, if such commencement is delayed by a cause which is beyond the reasonable control of the sponsor.

WHEREAS, Section 19-15-63 of the Mississippi Code of 1972, Annotated, addresses general penalties for violation of these regulations, now therefore:

Section 1. Definitions

The following definitions shall apply in the interpretation and any foreign substance has been added to the shellfish, or has been mixed or packed therewith so as to increase its bulk or weight, or reduce its quality or strength, or make it appear

- Section 5. It shall be unlawful for any person,

Section 7. The Mississippi Commission on Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks or as hereby authorized the Department of Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks shall maintain a Management Plan of Shellfish Growing Waters in the State of Mississippi. This plan shall include opening and closing dates for all shellfish growing areas in the State of Mississippi. In addition, the Commission shall maintain a Classification and Description of Shellfish Growing Waters in the State of Mississippi. The Commission shall also maintain a Rules and Regulations Relating to Shellfish in the State of Mississippi document, a Rules and Regulations Relating to the Processing and Handling of Shellstock and Shellfish, and a Shellfish in the State of Mississippi document, a Regulations Relating to Relaying Activities in the State of Mississippi document, and a Shellfish Leasing Regulations in the State of Mississippi document. These documents shall be maintained as Attachments to this ordinance, and as such shall be fully enforceable. The Commission shall also set the opening and closing date of oyster season in an Opening Order. The Opening Order shall include the date that oyster season shall open, a description of shellfish growing areas, a description of check-in and check-out stations, a description of alternate stations, telephone numbers from which information may be obtained with respect to closing and reopening waters; back limits and other necessary regulations relating to shellfish harvesting, processing and distribution.

Section 21. Any person, firm, or corporation violating any of the provisions of this Ordinance shall be guilty of a misdemeanor and upon conviction shall be punished in accordance with Section 49-15-63 of the Mississippi Code of 1972, Annotated, unless a penalty is specifically provided elsewhere in the Mississippi Code of 1972, Annotated. Any person, firm, or corporation convicted of taking oysters from leased land or from closed waters as described in Section 9 of this Ordinance shall, upon conviction thereof, be subject to all the penalties provided under Section 49-15-27 (10) of the Mississippi Code of 1972, Annotated. Violations of more than one section or subsection of this Ordinance or part thereof shall be considered separate offenses and punished as such.

Section 22. Any person in possession of shellfish in violation of any section of this Ordinance shall be subject to confiscation and disposal of such shellfish by direction of a designated official of the Mississippi Department of Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks.

Section 23. Each section and subsection of this Ordinance shall be declared separable, and if any section or subsection or part thereof shall be held invalid or unconstitutional, the balance of said ordinance shall remain in full force and effect.

This Ordinance 1.006 and Attachments A through E shall be in effect and be in force from and after the 19th day of October, 1991.

Adopted this the 18th day of September, 1991.

MANAGEMENT PLAN FOR SHELLFISH GROWING WATERS IN THE STATE OF MISSISSIPPI

I. AREA I (1)

A. All parts of Area I classified as PROHIBITED shall be closed to the direct harvesting of shellfish at all times.

B. All parts of Area I classified as RESTRICTED shall be closed to the direct harvesting of shellfish. The Commission on Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks may permit relaying or depuration operations out of these areas after sufficient study to determine that the shellfish will depurate to the required levels within a specified period of time, and that the growing waters in these areas meet the requirements to be classified as restricted to relaying and/or depuration.

C. All parts of Area I classified as APPROVED shall be open to the direct harvesting of shellfish from the time the Mississippi Commission on Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks adopts as the opening date of oyster season provided the area is open pursuant to Section 12 of Ordinance 1.006 and until that area is officially closed by order of the Commission, or as hereby authorized the Department of Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks, its Executive Director, Directors, Deputy Directors, Chief of Saltwater Fisheries or Shellfish Program Coordinator, shall delay opening or shall close subject area to shellfish harvesting.

D. All parts of Area I classified as CONDITIONALLY APPROVED shall be open to the direct harvesting of shellfish only during the time the Mississippi Commission on Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks adopts as the opening date of oyster season provided the area is open pursuant to Section 12 of Ordinance 1.006 and until the area is officially closed by order of the Commission, or as hereby authorized the Department of Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks, its Executive Director, Directors, Deputy Directors, Chief of Saltwater Fisheries or Shellfish Program Coordinator, shall delay opening or shall close subject area to shellfish harvesting.

II. - Area I (1) CONDITIONAL AREA MANAGEMENT PLAN

The area shall not be "opened" to start the season and/or shall be "closed" when:

- The Pearl River is equal to or exceeds 10 feet as measured at the Pearl River, Louisiana gauge, and/or,
- When the Bonnet Carré Spillway is opened; and/or,
- When reports concerning chemical spills, discharge of hazardous wastes, and/or discharge of raw sewage from ships, barges, ports, harbors or industrial parks or the sinking or grounding of vessels carrying hazardous cargoes are substantiated; and/or,
- When hurricanes, storms, localized flooding or other natural disasters strike the area; and/or,
- When two (2) or more inches of rainfall occurs in any 24 consecutive hours as measured at the Waveland and/or Bay St. Louis NOAA rainfall gauge, and/or,
- When the fecal coliform median or geometric mean MPN of the seawater at any sampling station in the area exceeds 14 per 100 ml, and/or more than 10 percent of the samples exceed an MPN of 43 for a 5-tube 3 dilution test; and/or,
- When there is evidence of the existence of marine biotoxins in the seawater in the area.

When any one or more of the above criteria are found to exist, the Mississippi Commission on Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks, its Executive Director, Directors, Deputy Directors, Chief of Saltwater Fisheries or Shellfish Program Coordinator thereof, shall delay opening or shall close subject area to shellfish harvesting.

The area shall be "opened" to start the season and/or shall be "re-opened" when:

- The Pearl River is less than or has receded to less than 10 feet as measured in feet at the Pearl River, Louisiana gauge, and/or the microbiological analysis of seawater samples indicate that the seawater is again acceptable and the shellfish have gone through a sufficient time interval to permit natural biological cleansing; and/or,
- When reports indicating that the Bonnet Carré Spillway has not been opened or that it has been closed are substantiated; and, microbiological analysis of seawater samples indicate that the seawater is again acceptable and the shellfish have gone through a sufficient time interval to permit natural biological cleansing; and/or,
- When any chemicals or hazardous waste residuals remaining in the seawater or oyster meats are less than the tolerance set for such chemicals or hazardous waste by the federal agencies responsible; or, when such residuals are judged to be non-hazardous to the public health by the BMR; and/or,
- When any raw sewage spills or discharges are diluted to the point that they are not detectable by microbiological analysis of seawater samples collected at the site of the spill or discharge; and/or,
- When hurricanes, storms, localized flooding or other natural disasters have subsided; and microbiological analysis of seawater and/or oyster meat samples indicate that the seawater is again acceptable and that the shellfish have gone through a sufficient time interval to permit natural biological cleansing; and/or,
- When rainfall has subsided and microbiological analysis of seawater samples indicate that the seawater is again acceptable and that the shellfish have gone through a sufficient time interval to permit natural biological cleansing; and/or,
- When, following a delay in the "opening" of the area for oyster season or following a "closure" of the area due to one or more of the environmental conditions listed above, seawater samples shall be collected from each sampling station in the area for microbiological analysis in accordance with state statute. The seawater shall be deemed acceptable when microbiological analysis of two consecutive samples separated by a 48 hour period from each station in the area indicate each sample does not exceed a fecal coliform MPN of 14 per 100 ml of water. This shall be deemed a sufficient time interval to permit natural biological cleansing; however, if oyster meats are sampled for verification, the results shall not exceed a fecal coliform MPN of 100 per 100 grams of meat.
- When there is no evidence of the existence of marine biotoxins in excess of tolerances set for such biotoxins in the seawater and oyster meat samples taken from the area.

When the above criteria are in compliance, the Mississippi Commission on Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks, its Executive Director, Directors, Deputy Directors, Chief of Saltwater Fisheries or Shellfish Program Coordinator thereof, shall delay opening or shall close subject area to shellfish harvesting.

III. AREA II (2)

A. All parts of Area II classified as PROHIBITED shall be closed to the direct harvesting of shellfish at all times.

B. All parts of Area II classified as RESTRICTED shall be closed to the direct harvesting of shellfish. The Commission on Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks may permit relaying or depuration operations out of these areas after sufficient study to determine that the shellfish will depurate to the required levels within a specified period of time, and that the growing waters in these areas meet the requirements to be classified as restricted to relaying and/or depuration.

C. All parts of Area II classified as APPROVED shall be open to the direct harvesting of shellfish from the time the Mississippi Commission on Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks adopts as the opening date of oyster season provided the area is open pursuant to Section 12 of Ordinance 1.006 and until that area is officially closed by order of the Commission, or as hereby authorized the Department of Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks, its Executive Director, Directors, Deputy Directors, Chief of Saltwater Fisheries or Shellfish Program Coordinator, shall delay opening or shall close subject area to shellfish harvesting.

as the opening date of oyster season provided the area is open pursuant to Section 12 of Ordinance 1.006 and until that area is officially closed by order of the Commission, or as hereby authorized the Department of Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks, its Executive Director, Directors, Deputy Directors, Chief of Saltwater Fisheries or Shellfish Program Coordinator.

D. All parts of Area II classified as CONDITIONALLY APPROVED shall be open to the direct harvesting of shellfish only during the time the Mississippi Commission on Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks adopts as the opening date of oyster season provided the area is open pursuant to Section 12 of Ordinance 1.006 and until that area is officially closed by order of the Commission, or as hereby authorized the Department of Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks, its Executive Director, Directors, Deputy Directors, Chief of Saltwater Fisheries or Shellfish Program Coordinator, shall delay opening or shall close subject area to shellfish harvesting.

IV. - Area II (2) CONDITIONAL AREA MANAGEMENT PLAN

The area shall not be "opened" to start the season and/or shall be "closed" when:

- The Pearl River is equal to or exceeds 10 feet as measured at the Pearl River, Louisiana gauge, and/or,
- When the Bonnet Carré Spillway is opened; and/or,
- When reports concerning chemical spills, discharge of hazardous wastes, and/or discharge of raw sewage from ships, barges, ports, harbors or industrial parks or the sinking or grounding of vessels carrying hazardous cargoes are substantiated; and/or,
- When hurricanes, storms, localized flooding or other natural disasters strike the area; and/or,
- When one (1) or more inches of rainfall occurs in any 24 consecutive hours as measured at the Waveland and/or Bay St. Louis NOAA gauges, or the Wolf River or Pass Christian Harbor Civil Defense Gauges; and/or,
- When the fecal coliform median or geometric mean MPN of the seawater at any sampling station in the area exceeds 14 per 100 ml, and/or more than 10 percent of the samples exceed an MPN of 43 for a 5-tube 3 dilution test; and/or,
- When there is evidence of the existence of marine biotoxins in the seawater in the area.

When any one or more of the above criteria are found to exist, the Mississippi Commission on Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks, its Executive Director, Directors, Deputy Directors, Chief of Saltwater Fisheries or Shellfish Program Coordinator thereof, shall delay opening or shall close subject area to shellfish harvesting.

The area shall be "opened" to start the season and/or shall be "re-opened" when:

- The Pearl River is less than or has receded to less than 10 feet as measured in feet at the Pearl River, Louisiana gauge, and/or the microbiological analysis of seawater samples indicate that the seawater is again acceptable and the shellfish have gone through a sufficient time interval to permit natural biological cleansing; and/or,
- When reports indicating that the Bonnet Carré Spillway has not been opened or that it has been closed are substantiated; and, microbiological analysis of seawater samples indicate that the seawater is again acceptable and the shellfish have gone through a sufficient time interval to permit natural biological cleansing; and/or,
- When any chemicals or hazardous waste residuals remaining in the seawater or oyster meats are less than the tolerance set for such chemicals or hazardous waste by the federal agencies responsible; or, when such residuals are judged to be non-hazardous to the public health by the BMR; and/or,
- When any raw, untreated sewage or poorly treated sewage spills or discharges are diluted to the point that they are not detectable by microbiological analysis of seawater samples collected at the site of the spill or discharge; and/or,
- When hurricanes, storms, localized flooding or other natural disasters have subsided; and microbiological analysis of seawater and/or oyster meat samples indicate that the seawater is again acceptable and that the shellfish have gone through a sufficient time interval to permit natural biological cleansing; and/or,
- When rainfall has subsided and microbiological analysis of seawater samples indicate that the seawater is again acceptable and that the shellfish have gone through a sufficient time interval to permit natural biological cleansing; and/or,
- When, following a delay in the "opening" of the area for oyster season or following a "closure" of the area due to one or more of the environmental conditions listed above, seawater samples shall be collected from each sampling station in the area for microbiological analysis in accordance with state statute. The seawater shall be deemed acceptable when microbiological analysis of two consecutive samples separated by a 48 hour period from each station in the area indicate each sample does not exceed a fecal coliform MPN of 14 per 100 ml of water. This shall be deemed a sufficient time interval to permit natural biological cleansing; however, if oyster meats are sampled for verification, the results shall not exceed a fecal coliform MPN of 100 per 100 grams of meat.
- When there is no evidence of the existence of marine biotoxins in excess of tolerances set for such biotoxins in the seawater and oyster meat samples taken from the area.

When the above criteria are in compliance, the Mississippi Commission on Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks, its Executive Director, Directors, Deputy Directors, Chief of Saltwater Fisheries or Shellfish Program Coordinator thereof, shall delay opening or shall close subject area to shellfish harvesting.

V. AREA III (3)

A. All parts of Area III classified as PROHIBITED shall be closed to the direct harvesting of shellfish at all times.

B. All parts of Area III classified as RESTRICTED shall be closed to the direct harvesting of shellfish. The Commission on Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks may permit relaying or depuration operations out of these areas after sufficient study to determine that the shellfish will depurate to the required levels within a specified period of time, and that the growing waters in these areas meet the requirements to be classified as restricted to relaying and/or depuration.

C. All parts of Area III classified as APPROVED shall be open to the direct harvesting of shellfish from the time the Mississippi Commission on Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks adopts as the opening date of oyster season provided the area is open pursuant to Section 12 of Ordinance 1.006 and until that area is officially closed by order of the Commission, or as hereby authorized the Department of Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks, its Executive Director, Directors, Deputy Directors, Chief of Saltwater Fisheries or Shellfish Program Coordinator, shall delay opening or shall close subject area to shellfish harvesting.

D. All parts of Area III classified as CONDITIONALLY APPROVED shall be open to the direct harvesting of shellfish only during the time the Mississippi Commission on Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks adopts as the opening date of oyster season provided the area is open pursuant to Section 12 of Ordinance 1.006 and until the area is officially closed by order of the Commission, or as hereby authorized the Department of Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks, its Executive Director, Directors, Deputy Directors, Chief of Saltwater Fisheries or Shellfish Program Coordinator, shall delay opening or shall close subject area to shellfish harvesting.

VI. - Area III (3) CONDITIONAL AREA MANAGEMENT PLAN

The area shall not be "opened" to start the season and/or shall be "closed" when:

- When reports concerning chemical spills, discharge of hazardous wastes, and/or discharge of raw, untreated sewage, or poorly treated sewage from malfunctioning city sewage collection system pump stations, chemical plants or users, harbors, shipping terminals, marinas, ships, barges, or the sinking or grounding of vessels carrying hazardous cargoes are substantiated; and/or,
- When two (2) or more inches of rainfall occurs in any 24 consecutive hours as measured at the Bay St. Louis or Gulfport NOAA gauges, or Pass Christian Harbor or Gulfport Harbor Civil Defense gauges; and/or,
- When the fecal coliform median or geometric mean MPN of the seawater at any sampling station in the area exceeds 14 per 100 ml, and/or more than 10 percent of the samples exceed an MPN of 43 for a 5-tube 3 dilution test; and/or,
- When hurricanes, storms, localized flooding or other natural disasters strike the area; and/or,
- When there is evidence of the existence of marine biotoxins in the seawater in the area.

When any one or more of the above criteria are found to exist, the Mississippi Commission on Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks, its Executive Director, Directors, Deputy Directors, Chief of Saltwater Fisheries or Shellfish Program Coordinator thereof, shall delay opening or shall close subject area to shellfish harvesting.

The area shall be "opened" to start the season and/or shall be "re-opened" when:

- When any chemicals or hazardous waste residuals remaining in the seawater or oyster meats are less than the tolerance set for such chemicals or hazardous waste by the federal agencies responsible; or, when such residuals are judged to be non-hazardous to the public health by the BMR; and/or,
- When any raw, untreated sewage or poorly treated sewage spills or discharges are diluted to the point that they are not detectable by microbiological analysis of seawater samples collected at the site of the spill or discharge; and/or,

C. When hurricanes, storms, localized flooding or other natural disasters have subsided; and microbiological analysis of seawater and/or oyster meat samples indicate that the seawater is again acceptable and that the shellfish have gone through a sufficient time interval to permit natural biological cleansing; and/or,

D. When rainfall has subsided and microbiological analysis of seawater samples indicate that the seawater is again acceptable and that the shellfish have gone through a sufficient time interval to permit natural biological cleansing; and/or,

E. When, following a delay in the "opening" of the area for oyster season or following a "closure" of the area due to one or more of the environmental conditions listed above, seawater samples shall be collected from each sampling station in the area for microbiological analysis in accordance with state statute. The seawater shall be deemed acceptable when microbiological analysis of two consecutive samples separated by a 48 hour period from each station in the area indicate each sample does not exceed a fecal coliform MPN of 14 per 100 ml of water. This shall be deemed a sufficient time interval to permit natural biological cleansing; however, if oyster meats are sampled for verification, the results shall not exceed a fecal coliform MPN of 100 per 100 grams of meat.

F. When there is no evidence of the existence of marine biotoxins in excess of tolerances set for such biotoxins in the seawater and oyster meat samples taken from the area.

When the above criteria are in compliance, the Mississippi Commission on Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks, its Executive Director, Directors, Deputy Directors, Chief of Saltwater Fisheries or Shellfish Program Coordinator thereof, shall open subject area to shellfish harvesting.

VII. AREA IV (4)

A. All parts of Area IV classified as PROHIBITED shall be closed to the direct harvesting of shellfish at all times.

B. All parts of Area IV classified as RESTRICTED shall be closed to the direct harvesting of shellfish. The Commission on Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks may permit relaying or depuration operations out of these areas after sufficient study to determine that the shellfish will depurate to the required levels within a specified period of time, and that the growing waters in these areas meet the requirements to be classified as restricted to relaying and/or depuration.

C. All parts of Area IV classified as APPROVED shall be open to the direct harvesting of shellfish from the time the Mississippi Commission on Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks adopts as the opening date of oyster season provided the area is open pursuant to Section 12 of Ordinance 1.006 and until that area is officially closed by order of the Commission, or as hereby authorized the Department of Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks, its Executive Director, Directors, Deputy Directors, Chief of Saltwater Fisheries or Shellfish Program Coordinator, shall delay opening or shall close subject area to shellfish harvesting.

D. All parts of Area IV classified as CONDITIONALLY APPROVED shall be open to the direct harvesting of shellfish only during the time the Mississippi Commission on Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks adopts as the opening date of oyster season provided the area is open pursuant to Section 12 of Ordinance 1.006 and until the area is officially closed by order of the Commission, or as hereby authorized the Department of Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks, its Executive Director, Directors, Deputy Directors, Chief of Saltwater Fisheries or Shellfish Program Coordinator, shall delay opening or shall close subject area to shellfish harvesting.

VIII. - Area IV (4) CONDITIONAL AREA MANAGEMENT PLAN

The area shall not be "opened" to start the season and/or shall be "closed" when:

- The Pearl River is equal to or exceeds 10 feet as measured at the Pearl River, Louisiana gauge, and/or,
- When the Bonnet Carré Spillway is opened; and/or,
- When reports concerning chemical spills, discharge of hazardous wastes, and/or discharge of raw sewage from ships, barges, ports, harbors or industrial parks or the sinking or grounding of vessels carrying hazardous cargoes are substantiated; and/or,
- When hurricanes, storms, localized flooding or other natural disasters strike the area; and/or,
- When one (1) or more inches of rainfall occurs in any 24 consecutive hours as measured at the Gulfport NOAA gauge, or Gulfport Harbor or Pass Christian Harbor Civil Defense gauges; and/or,
- When the fecal coliform median or geometric mean MPN of the seawater at any sampling station in the area exceeds 14 per 100 ml, and/or more than 10 percent of the samples exceed an MPN of 43 for a 5-tube 3 dilution test; and/or,
- When there is evidence of the existence of marine biotoxins in the seawater in the area.

When any one or more of the above criteria are found to exist, the Mississippi Commission on Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks, its Executive Director, Directors, Deputy Directors, Chief of Saltwater Fisheries or Shellfish Program Coordinator thereof, shall delay opening or shall close subject area to shellfish harvesting.

The area shall be "opened" to start the season and/or shall be "re-opened" when:

- The Pearl River is less than or has receded to less than 10 feet as measured in feet at the Pearl River, Louisiana gauge, and/or the microbiological analysis of seawater samples indicate that the seawater is again acceptable and the shellfish have gone through a sufficient time interval to permit natural biological cleansing; and/or,
- When reports indicating that the Bonnet Carré Spillway has not been opened or that it has been closed are substantiated; and, microbiological analysis of seawater samples indicate that the seawater is again acceptable and the shellfish have gone through a sufficient time interval to permit natural biological cleansing; and/or,
- When any chemicals or hazardous waste residuals remaining in the seawater or oyster meats are less than the tolerance set for such chemicals or hazardous waste by the federal agencies responsible; or, when such residuals are judged to be non-hazardous to the public health by the BMR; and/or,
- When any raw, untreated sewage or poorly treated sewage spills or discharges are diluted to the point that they are not detectable by microbiological analysis of seawater samples collected at the site of the spill or discharge; and/or,
- When hurricanes, storms, localized flooding or other natural disasters have subsided; and microbiological analysis of seawater and/or oyster meat samples indicate that the seawater is again acceptable and that the shellfish have gone through a sufficient time interval to permit natural biological cleansing; and/or,
- When rainfall has subsided and microbiological analysis of seawater samples indicate that the seawater is again acceptable and that the shellfish have gone through a sufficient time interval to permit natural biological cleansing; and/or,
- When, following a delay in the "opening" of the area for oyster season or following a "closure" of the area due to one or more of the environmental conditions listed above, seawater samples shall be collected from each sampling station in the area for microbiological analysis in accordance with state statute. The seawater shall be deemed acceptable when microbiological analysis of two consecutive samples separated by a 48 hour period from each station in the area indicate each sample does not exceed a fecal coliform MPN of 14 per 100 ml of water. This shall be deemed a sufficient time interval to permit natural biological cleansing; however, if oyster meats are sampled for verification, the results shall not exceed a fecal coliform MPN of 100 per 100 grams of meat.
- When there is no evidence of the existence of marine biotoxins in excess of tolerances set for such biotoxins in the seawater and oyster meat samples taken from the area.

When the above criteria are in compliance, the Mississippi Commission on Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks, its Executive Director, Directors, Deputy Directors, Chief of Saltwater Fisheries or Shellfish Program Coordinator thereof, shall open subject area to shellfish harvesting.

IX. AREA V (5)

A. All parts of Area V classified as PROHIBITED shall be closed to the direct harvesting of shellfish at all times.

B. All parts of Area V classified as RESTRICTED shall be closed to the direct harvesting of shellfish. The Commission on Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks may permit relaying or depuration operations out of these areas after sufficient study to determine that the shellfish will depurate to the required levels within a specified period of time, and that the growing waters in these areas meet the requirements to be classified as restricted to relaying and/or depuration.

C. All parts of Area V classified as APPROVED shall be open to the direct harvesting of shellfish from the time the Mississippi Commission on Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks adopts as the opening date of oyster season provided the area is open pursuant to Section 12 of Ordinance 1.006 and until that area is officially closed by order of the Commission, or as hereby authorized the Department of Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks, its Executive Director, Directors, Deputy Directors, Chief of Saltwater Fisheries or Shellfish Program Coordinator, shall delay opening or shall close subject area to shellfish harvesting.

performed to preclude the contamination of the shellfish and shellfish products. Only clean shell stock with tight shell shall be received at a shucking plant or handled or sold as shell stock. Shell stock shall be cleaned with potable water. Shell stock shall be shucked in a manner to prevent contamination. Shell stock and shucked shellfish shall be stored separately on racks or pallets above the floor. Shucked shellfish shall be packed and labeled in accordance with Ordinance 1.006 on the day shucked.

(b) Shucked shellfish offered for sale or purchased for resale must be in the original container in which they were packed and labeled. Restaurants and oyster bars are permitted to open oysters on the half shell for consumption on the premises. Owners of such establishments shall keep accurate records of all purchases of shell stock and shucked shellfish and such records shall be available to the Commission. Any oysters found in such establishments which do not comply with this regulation are subject to seizure under Section 22 of Ordinance 1.006.

Section 8. Cooling of Shellfish to read as follows:

- Two hours after packing, the temperature of shucked shellfish shall not exceed 45° F. (7.2°C).
- Shell stock shall be stored at 45° F. (7.2°C.) or less. Every room in which shellfish and shellfish products are stored shall be equipped with an easily readable, accurate thermometer.
- Frozen shucked shellfish shall be stored at 0° F. (-17.8°C.) or less. Frozen shucked shellfish shall not be thawed and repacked.

Section 9. Water Supply

- Water for shellfish plant purposes including refrigerator water for cooling the oysters shall be from a secure water supply, properly located, protected, covered, and shall be easily accessible, adequate, and of a safe, sanitary quality approved by the Department of Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks.
- Hot and cold running water dispensed through a mixing valve shall be available at each wash tank, sink, lavatory, or any other place when needed.
- Water used in processing plants shall be tested on at least six (6) month intervals and the results kept on file and a copy sent to the Department of Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks Shellfish Program. The water used in processing plant operations shall have no detectable levels of coliform bacteria and be free from any deleterious substances for which any action or tolerance levels have been set by the State of Mississippi or any federal agency.

Section 10. Toilet-Sewage Disposal Facilities

- Every shellfish plant shall be provided with an adequate number of flush-type toilet facilities for both sexes of employees. Toilet rooms shall not open directly into any rooms in which shellfish are handled or processed. Toilet rooms shall have lavatories, including hot and cold running water with mixing valve, soap, and individual clean towels. Dressing rooms, toilet rooms, and fixtures shall be kept in a clean condition, in good repair, and shall be well-ventilated, well-lighted, and screened. Signs shall be posted in all toilet rooms used by employees directing them to wash their hands before returning to work. Easily cleanable receptacles in toilet rooms shall be covered. Toilet tissue shall be provided at each toilet at all times.
- Sewage and waste waters from the shellfish plant shall be disposed of in a manner approved by the Department of Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks and subject to applicable, State and Federal laws.

Section 11. Hand Washing Facilities

- Hand-washing facilities shall be provided, including lavatory with mixing valve for hot and cold running water, soap, and individual sanitary towels or other approved hand-drying devices in all rooms in which shellfish and/or shellfish products are handled or processed. Hand-washing facilities shall be kept clean and in good repair.

Section 12. Surroundings

Shellfish plant surroundings shall be kept clean, neat and free from conditions which might attract or harbor flies, other insects, rodents or other otherwise constitute a nuisance.

Section 13. Personnel Cleanliness

Hands shall be thoroughly washed before beginning work in the plant and after each work interruption as often as may be required to remove soil and contamination. No employee shall resume work after visiting the toilet room without thoroughly washing their hands. All persons engaged in shucking, packing, and handling of shellfish and shellfish products or handling containers, utensils, and equipment shall wear clean outer garments of approved material. The use of tobacco by any person engaged in processing or handling of shellfish, or handling of containers, utensils, and equipment is prohibited. Appropriate head cover shall be worn by employees handling shucked shellfish. Body discharges of any type are prohibited in any room in which shellfish is handled, processed, and stored. All persons, immediately prior to handling shucked shellfish, shall thoroughly wash and sanitize their hands in a clean solution containing at least 50 parts per million of available chlorine or 12.5 parts per million of available iodine or other equally effective sanitizing solutions approved for food handling use. If gloves are used, they shall be nonabsorbent and easily cleaned and sanitized.

Section 14. Personnel Health

- No person affected with any disease in a communicable form, or while a carrier of such disease, shall be employed or work in a shellfish plant in any capacity which brings him in contact with shucking, handling, packing, or transportation of shellfish or the handling of containers, utensils, and equipment. No shellfish plant shall employ in any such capacity any such person, or any person suspected of having any disease in a communicable form, or of being a carrier of such disease. The owner or operator in whose plant any communicable disease occurs, or who suspects that any employee has been contacted by a disease in a communicable form, or has been a carrier of such disease, shall notify the Commission immediately. The Commission may require or require such examination necessary for said person(s) to secure a health certificate. Persons with infectious diseases on hands, arms, or face are included in the requirements of this section.
- When infection is suspected or when reasonable cause exists to suspect the possibility of transmission of infection from any person engaged with the shucking, packing, and handling of shellfish and shellfish products, the Commission is authorized to require any or all of the following measures:
 - The immediate exclusion of that person from handling shellfish,
 - The immediate exclusion of the shellfish supply from distribution and use, and
 - Adequate medical and bacteriological examination of the person, of his associates, and of his and their body discharges.

Section 15. Future Shellfish Plants

Properly prepared plans and specifications of shellfish plants included in this regulation which are hereafter constructed, reconstructed, or extensively altered, shall be submitted to the Commission for approval before work is begun. Such altered or constructed shellfish plants shall conform to the requirements of this regulation.

Section 16. Responsibility

It shall be the duty and responsibility of each owner, manager, and operator of a shellfish plant to insure that all regulations pertaining thereto are strictly adhered to and that only safe, wholesome, unadulterated shellfish shall be offered for sale to the consuming public. It shall be his duty and responsibility to see that his plant is properly supervised at all times and all shellfish can be identified, whether shellstock or shucked shellfish, to insure that they were harvested from approved growing waters and that they have been handled and processed in a sanitary manner.

This Attachment C entitled RULES AND REGULATIONS RELATING TO THE PROCESSING AND HANDLING OF SHELLSTOCK AND SHUCKED SHELLFISH IN THE STATE OF MISSISSIPPI is an integral part of Ordinance 1.006.

ATTACHMENT D REGULATIONS FOR RELAYING ACTIVITIES IN THE STATE OF MISSISSIPPI

Section 1. All persons or entities other than the Mississippi Department of Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks wishing to relay shellfish in the State of Mississippi shall complete and submit an application for a relaying permit to the Mississippi Department of Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks, Bureau of Marine Resources, and Shellfish Program Coordinator. Applications shall be available from the Mississippi Department of Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks, Bureau of Marine Resources, Edgewater Office, 2620 Beach Blvd. Biloxi, Ms., 39511. Applications will be reviewed by the Department of Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks, Bureau of Marine Resources staff for compliance with application guidelines and requested information. When all required information is received, the Commission will be advised of the applicant's intent to relay will be advertised once a week for two consecutive weeks in a newspaper of general circulation in the county or counties closest to the intended activity. Written public comment will be received by the Department of Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks, Bureau of Marine Resources for a period of fifteen (15) days from the first date of advertisement. A recommendation will be made to the Commission on Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks to grant or deny the permit at the next regularly scheduled Commission meeting following the fifteen day period. Applicants will be notified in writing of the Commission's action. All applicants must:

- Hold a valid lease of oyster bedding grounds in the State of Mississippi, and
- Have been a resident of the State of Mississippi for at least five (5) years, and
- Have a valid Mississippi Shellfish license.

Section 2. Approval of Relaying Permit

If the Commission on Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks approves the relaying permit application, a relaying permit will be issued. Said permit shall specify any specific conditions under which the relaying is permitted in addition to those conditions specified in the 49-15-37 of the Mississippi Code of 1972, Annotated, or any ordinance of public notice adopted by the Commission on Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks. Permittee must comply with the following guidelines:

- Permittee must hold a valid lease of oyster bedding grounds in the State of Mississippi.
- Permittee shall move shellfish only to an area leased by the Commission after April 13, 1977.
- Permittee shall not relay shellfish from one restricted area to another restricted area.
- Permittee must fulfill all permit requirements as established by the Commission.

Section 3. Harvesting of Relayed Shellfish

Harvesting of shellfish shall be permitted only during daylight hours and with the most efficient gear possible, consistent with conservation considerations, and in such a way not to damage the reef. This shall include the permission to use two (2) dredges per boat in restricted areas and on private leased grounds.

Section 4. Bonding

Permittees must be bonded in compliance with the permit system established by the Commission. Permittee shall post a bond of one hundred dollars ($100.00) per acre leased with the Commission. This bond shall be forfeited if permittee violates any section of the Attachment D bond shall be approved by the Director of the Commission if such shall be secured by sufficient property or sureties.

Section 5. Relaying Procedures

Permittee shall not relay shellfish from the restricted area without the presence of an officer of the Department of Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks, or designated official of the Department of Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks. The Department of Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks, its Executive Director, Directors, Deputy Directors, Chief of Saltwater Fisheries or Shellfish Program Coordinator. The permittee shall pay to the designated official for the time such officer or designated official actually spends performing the above-described duties.

Section 6. Permission to Harvest Relayed Shellfish

Permittee shall not harvest relayed shellfish without prior written permission from the Mississippi Commission on Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks or as hereby authorized the Department of Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks, its Executive Director, Directors, Deputy Directors, Chief of Saltwater Fisheries or Shellfish Program Coordinator.

Section 7. Time Periods Between Relaying and Harvesting of Relayed Shellfish

There shall be a sufficient time interval to allow natural biological cleansing of the shellfish between the time the permittee is permitted to take the shellfish from the restricted area(s), and the time he is then allowed to harvest these shellfish or any other shellfish from his leased area, during which time neither activity is allowed. During this time interval, the permittee nor any other person or entity is allowed to harvest shellfish from the area. The area relayed to fails during any of those 14 consecutive days to meet all requirements of its management plan, as specified in Attachment A of Ordinance 1.006. If during the 14 consecutive days, the area fails to meet its management plan as specified above, harvesting shall not be allowed until the area has once again met its management plan for 14 consecutive days, or until shorter periods of time are demonstrated to be adequate to permit natural biological cleansing to occur. The period of time to allow natural biological cleansing shall be deemed sufficient and adequate if the bacteriological quality of the shellfish after relaying are of the same quality as the same species already in the approved or conditionally approved relay area; or if oyster meats are sampled for verification, the results shall not exceed fecal coliform MPN of 100 per 100 grams of meat. Provided that no evidence exists that the shellfish prior to relaying contained substances that equal or exceed the action levels, tolerances, and other established levels for poisonous or deleterious substances in seafood as established by the Food and Drug Administration, and/or any levels of substances established by the State of Mississippi.

Section 8. Protection from Contamination

All relayed shellfish shall be protected from contamination sources such as, but not limited to, boat fuel, oil, bilge, dogs, cats, birds, and other animals, and from sunlight for extended periods of time. All portions of boats and other equipment coming in contact with shellfish relayed from restricted areas to permitted approved or conditionally approved areas shall be rinsed with water from such approved or conditionally approved waters after each unloading and before leaving the permitted approved or conditionally approved area.

Section 9. Relaying Records

Adequate relaying records shall be maintained by the Department of Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks, Bureau of Marine Resources, Shellfish Program Coordinator and each permittee. Each record shall note the quantity and type shellfish relayed, the date of relaying, specific areas shellfish are relayed from and to, and any other necessary information. Specific areas relayed shall be described using latitude and longitude or Loran C coordinates. In the absence of latitude and longitude or Loran C readings an accurate map will be supplied depicting the relay source site and the specific location within the permittee's lease where the shellfish were relayed.

Section 10. Written Permission to Harvest Relayed Shellfish

Prior to harvesting any relayed shellfish, the permittee must complete and submit a request to harvest relayed shellfish application form from the Department of Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks, Bureau of Marine Resources, and receive written permission for such harvesting from the Mississippi Commission on Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks or as hereby authorized the Department of Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks, its Executive Director, Directors, Deputy Directors, Chief of Saltwater Fisheries or Shellfish Program Coordinator. The permittee must follow all procedures contained in the above attachment, Ordinance 1.006, and all other attachments to same.

This Attachment D entitled REGULATIONS FOR RELAYING ACTIVITIES IN THE STATE OF MISSISSIPPI is an integral part of Ordinance 1.006.

(4) After the lease application and bid are approved and accepted by the Commission, the lessee must provide a map with latitude and longitude and/or Loran C coordinates of the lease and lease markers from a certified marine engineer or surveyor licensed in the State of Mississippi, to the Department of Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks, Shellfish Program Coordinator prior to final granting of the lease.

(5) All leases made by the Commission under the authority of this section shall be subject to the paramount right of the State of Mississippi and any of its political subdivisions authorized by law, to promote and develop ports, harbors, channels, industrial or recreational projects, and all such leases shall contain a provision that in the event such authorized public body shall require the area so leased or any part thereof for such public purposes, that the lease shall be terminated on reasonable notice fixed by the Commission in such lease. On the termination of any lease, the lessees shall have the right to remove any shellfish within the leased area within such time as may be fixed by the Commission and in accordance with such reasonable rules and regulations as the Commission may adopt.

(6) The Commission is enjoined to cooperate with the Jackson County Port Authority, the Harbor County Development Commission, the Municipal Port Commission, and other port and harbor agencies, in order that the oyster beds shall not be planted in close proximity to navigable channels. The Commission or lessee shall have no right of action as against any such public body for damages accruing to any natural reef or leased reef by any necessary improvement of such channel in the interest of shipping, commerce, navigation, or other purpose authorized by law.

(7) All activities conducted by lessee on the lease area must have prior written approval from the Commission on Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks or as hereby authorized the Department of Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks, its Executive Director, Directors, Deputy Directors, Chief of Saltwater Fisheries or Shellfish Program Coordinator in his possession at the time of such activity, and must be done in accordance with the provisions of the lease agreement, all applicable laws of the State of Mississippi, and all Commission ordinances, regulations, and public notices.

(8) All leases shall expire on April 30 of each year. All leases leased before or after April 30 of each year shall be prorated from the date of lease to the following April 30. All leases leased prior to April 30, 1989 shall expire on the date indicated in the current lease agreement. All leases leased after April 30, 1989 shall expire April 30, 1990, provided that said lease shall be prorated from the current date of lease to April 30, 1990, and any unearned balance returned to said lessee.

(9) Each lessee shall have the option to renew said lease as provided in Section 1 above, provided said lease expires on April 30. Each lessee whose lease does not expire on April 30 shall have the option to renew said lease until the following April 30 on a prorated basis under the same provisions of Section 1 above, and subsequently thereafter. Each lessee shall have the option to renew said lease provided they submit a written application with payment of their annual prorated rental for the subsequent lease period within thirty (30) days of the lease expiration date to the Department of Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks, Bureau of Marine Resources, Shellfish Program Coordinator.

(10) Each lessee shall provide a written summary of lease activities report for the previous lease period upon the forms as provided by the Department of Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks within thirty (30) days from the lease expiration date. These forms shall be submitted to the Department of Wildlife, Fisheries and Parks, Bureau of Marine Resources, Shellfish Program Coordinator.

(11) Failure to abide by any provision specified herein, in the lease agreement, any applicable laws of the State of Mississippi, or any Commission ordinance, regulation, or public notice shall be grounds for immediate termination of the lease agreement.
